ALL HOPING FOR THE BEST.

ULTIMATE CHANCES OF THE PRESIDENT'S RECOVERY IMPROVED BY ANOTHER DAY OF FAVORABLE TENDENCIES.

Vice-President Roosevelt Holds That the Physicians Are Even Understating the Hopefulness of the Conditions That Apparently Now Prevail.

Nevertheless Fears Are Still Entertained That the Crisis Will Not Be Passed Within Forty-eight Hours From Last Night—Those in Attendance On Him Will Not Be Entirely Satisfied Until the Doubtful Hours Have Gone By—All the World is Sympathizing.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILBURN HOUSE, Buffalo (N. Y.), Sept. 8.—Tonight is included in the time critical to the President. He is holding his own, as Secretary Cortelyou expressed it, and if he successfully passes the night, without loss of strength or the intervention of threatening conditions, his ultimate chances of recovery will be increased.

He was seen tonight by all the physicians and surgeons who are treating him; and their opinion, as expressed by the night bulletin, was favorable. They found his general condition unchanged, and their examination did not disclose anything of an unfavorable nature. It is believed the President is in a serious condition, and that the crisis will not be passed for another forty-eight hours. The professional men and officials hope for the best, but until the case has run through the doubtful days they will not be reassured.

The Milburn house was very quiet tonight, and there were few callers. Among those who came were Vice-President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Secretary Wilson, Secretary Hitchcock, Senator Hanna and Capt. McWilliams of Chicago. None of the callers remained very long. Tonight, like its predecessor, was very cold. The weather conditions are regarded as very favorable for the President.

CAN TELL BY TUESDAY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A special to the Tribune from Buffalo says that Dr. McBurney, who has joined the physicians in attendance on the President, says that if the President keeps on improving, the crisis will be passed Tuesday, and that in three or four weeks' time he will be able to resume his ordinary duties.

"The President is nourished," said Dr. Mc Burney, "by injecting a proper amount of whisky, hot water and raw eggs. He is allowed a few swallows of water. He talks to us as we attend him, and is clear headed all the time."

"How long will it be before the crisis is reached?" Dr. McBurney was asked.

"Probably by Tuesday," said the doctor. "That will allow a margin of forty-eight hours, and by that time we ought to be able to tell with a reasonable degree of certainty whether he is going to recover. Peritonitis has not developed. It will have developed by Tuesday, probably, if it is going to come at all. The wounds have entirely closed. They were closed immediately after the operation. There has been no subsequent exploration of the wounds.

"The presumption is now that the bullet is lodged in the muscles of the back. If it is lodged there it is harmless, and there is no need to take it out. The bullet has neither been seen nor felt since it entered the President's body, but judging from its direction, it is now lodged, as I before said, in the muscles of the back. There are no signs of the formation of pus. The only object in using the X-rays will be to determine the location of the bullet. If there are no signs of trouble, there will be no need of using the X-rays. The President is not being relieved by opiates. None has been used since Saturday, and the doctors hope he will not have to take another."

AT 1:30 A. M. NO CHANGE

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILBURN HOUSE, Sept. 9., 1:30 a. m.—No additional bulletin has been issued by the President's physicians, and none is expected until after 3 o'clock. The condition of the President is reported as unchanged.

AT 2:30 NO CHANGE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILBURN HOUSE, Sept. 9.—Harry Hamlin left the Milburn house at 2:30 a.m. He said: "There has been no change."

REASSURING WORDS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 8.—Through this quiet, peaceful Sunday every word that came from the big vine-clad house in Delaware avenue, in which the stricken Chief Magistrate of the nation lies battling for life, was reassuring, and tonight the chances of his recovery are so greatly improved that all of those who have kept the patient vigil at his bedside feel strongly that his life will be spared.

The developments of last night and today are dreaded, but hour after hour passed and the distinguished patient, struggling there beneath the watch-

VICE-PRESIDENT SURE OF THE RECOVERY

CORRECTS SENATOR HANNA AS TO PHYSICIANS' BULLETINS.

Says They Are Made With a Scrupulous Understatement of the Favorableness of Conditions—Cabinet Members Also Share in the Cheerful Feeling.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 8.—The sermon at the First Presbyterian Church, where Vice-President Roosevelt was in attendance, made frequent reference to the calamity which had fallen upon the nation. At its close, the pastor, Dr. S. S. Mitchell, delivered a fervent prayer, in the course of which he said: "Unite, O God, the hearts of all lovers of righteousness in sternest probation of the anarchic fury of reprobate lives, and whip from the temple of public life men who are willing to temporize with this madness in city and State."

After a hymn, the entire congregation united in singing the national anthem.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Vice-President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna left the house. They stepped on the corner to tell the newspaper men of the high hopes they had for the President's recovery. The Vice-President said with great emphasis that he felt sure of the President's recovery, and Senator Hanna interjected the statement that the President's condition, considering the circumstances, could not be more favorable. Complications might arise, said the Senator, but there were no indications of them up to the present time.

Senator Hanna then spoke of the newspaper statements that the reports of the physicians were being colored, and did not show the President's true condition.

"It is outrageous that such stories should be circulated," said he. "The physicians are giving the facts to the public."

At this point, Vice-President Roosevelt, with great earnestness, laid his hand upon the Senator's arm.

"Senator, let me put it this way," he said. "The doctors' bulletins are made with a scrupulous understatement of the favorableness of conditions—a scrupulous understatement," he repeated emphatically, adding emphasis with his uplifted gloves.

"That expresses it well," said Senator Hanna.

"Yes," continued Mr. Roosevelt, "if anything, the doctors understate the hopefulness of the situation."

Hanna again assented to this statement. He added that it took from forty-eight to seventy-two hours for conclusions to be reached of any absolutely conclusive character, and no physician, pending such a period, would state absolutely final conclusions. But for the present, the doctors were inspired by the increased effort to give the best judgment which medical science could render.

As Vice-President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna turned to their carriage an attempt was made to photograph the Vice-President, but he turned away hurriedly with a "No, no," indicating that it was not a time for such scenes.

Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln and former Secretary of War, came from the Milburn house soon after Vice-President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna retired. Lincoln expressed the some hopeful views of the situation, and regarded the condition of the patient as altogether favorable.

Shortly after the departure of Vice-President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna, Secretary Gage, Secretary Root, Secretary Hitchcock and Atty.-Gen. Knox emerged and walked down Delaware avenue together. All of them shared in the cheerful feeling which prevailed at the Milburn house.

"The President is not only doing well," said the Attorney-General, "but he gives promise of doing better."

Each of these members of the Cabinet was exceedingly optimistic, although admitting the possibility and danger of future complications.

Secretary Gage said that if another day passed without an indication of peritonitis, the physicians felt that the danger from that source would be over. If suppuration should appear in the neighborhood of the bullet later, they seemed to feel that no difficulty would be experienced in removing it.

The members of the Cabinet will remain here until the issue of the President's illness is definitely determined. If the physicians pronounce him out of danger, they will return at once to Washington, where they can be together and in frequent consultation, if necessity arises.

Word was received from Secretary Hay today that he would reach here tomorrow. Secretary Long has not signified his intention of coming.

CZOLGOSZ YET INDIFFERENT.

He Continues to Sleep and Eat Well.

Makes no Inquiries as to the President.

Empty Box Which Contained the Revolver Identified. Alfonso Stutz.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 8.—Leon Czolgosz is to be taken before Superintendent Bull and Dist.-Atty. Penney again today to be further questioned as to the crime. The police seem quite hopeful that he will make further admissions to them. Superintendent Bull said today that he had been advised of the arrests at Chicago, and that he was making a careful inquiry.

A member of the firm of Walbridge & Co., it is said, has identified the box in which the revolver which Czolgosz shot the President as having the price marks of that firm. It is supposed the weapon was sold Tuesday last. It is not known whether it was personally purchased by Czolgosz. Only the empty box was found in Czolgosz's bag.

Czolgosz still continues to eat well and sleep well, and seems absolutely indifferent to his fate. He makes no inquiries as to the condition of the President, and apparently cares nothing at all as to the outcome of his injuries.

ALFONSO STUTZ ARRESTED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 8.—Alfonso Stutz, supposed to be a German, 35 years of age, has been arrested here. He is said to have arrived within an hour of Czolgosz and to have a room adjoining Nowak's on Broadway.

Superintendent of Police Bull clears Stutz of any part in the plot against the life of the President. Discussing his arrest with an Associated Press reporter today, he said: "We are satisfied that Stutz did not even know of Czolgosz, and that he had nothing to do with the crime. He arrived here the day Czolgosz did and roomed near him. We rounded him up with several others whom we believed might have been implicated. We found a pair of brass knuckles on him, and as that was an offense we held him for it. He was formerly a lieutenant in the German army and arrived in America by the steamship Deutschland, about ten days ago."

CHIEF O'NEILL'S CLEW.

CZOLGOSZ AND ISAAK'S BAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the utmost secrecy Chief of Police O'Neill began today an investigation of a clew that points straight to the existence of a conspiracy between Czolgosz, one of the men of the Isaak party now under arrest in this city, and two residents of other cities.

So important did Chief O'Neill consider his information and so delicate is the investigation that he did not breathe a word of what he knew in detective headquarters, but hurried the officers of his personal staff out of the city at once, and spent the night awaiting their reports. Czolgosz was positively identified, through photographs furnished by the Buffalo police, as the man who visited anarchist Isaak the night of July 12, when Emma Goldman left Chicago. Isaak himself, Henry Travaglio, and Morris Fox, three of the prisoners, all said the photograph was that of a stranger.

The identification does not, however, give Chief O'Neill and Capt. Collaran any additional ground for believing that the prisoners as a body were in a conspiracy with Czolgosz, and does not make the case against them any stronger, for there is nothing yet, except in the case of one man, to overthrow the prisoners' assertions that they feared Czolgosz as a spy and dangerous man, and would have nothing to do with him.

The theory of Chief O'Neill in his personal investigation seems to be that after Czolgosz left Isaak, the night he approached him, he found another member of the group who was less skeptical and more ready to lend himself to plans for action. Isaak's own statement Saturday was that Czolgosz told him he was tired of theory and ready for action, and that he asked him for funds to enable him to carry out his projects, which, although Isaak has not said so, must have included directly the assassination of the President. If he found a compliant anarchist, and was furnished with funds, and if in his trips to Detroit, Cleveland and other cities immediately he entered into similar relations with other men, the whole plot becomes clear.

All of the prisoners now under arrest will be arraigned tomorrow. Six men and three woman of the Isaak band have already been charged with conspiracy with Czolgosz to assassinate the President, and similiar charges will be filed against the three men arrested Saturday.

EMMA GOLDMAN MIXED IN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 8.—It is reported here that Emma Goldman, the anarchist leader, was here last Monday, and that she occupied a house a few doors from where Czolgosz lived. Superintendent Bull is said to have asked New York police to arrest her. The New York police are said to be investigating the case at the request of Gov. Odell.

CINCINNATI PLOT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8.—The ramification of the band of anarchists which is supposed to have been responsible for the commission of the terrible tragedy at Buffalo Friday, is believed to extend to this city. The local police have received a telegram from Chief Wilkie of the Federal Secret Service Department requesting the arrest here of E. Laux, No. 1450 Monroe street. Beyond this statement no information was furnished. Detectives have failed to locate Laux, as there is no such number on Monroe street.

The police claim to have the details of a former plot which was hatched here, and in which a Cincinnati man left here for Canton, O., the home of the President, for the supposed purpose of murder, but returned unable to fulfill his purpose. It is said that Emma Goldman visited here incognito recently. Secret Service agents are expected here in a few days.

CONSPIRACY ASSERTED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A special to the Herald from Buffalo says:

"That there was a conspiracy in which many besides Czolgosz were concerned, and which had the destruction of President McKinley as its purpose, is the firm conviction of all the members of the Cabinet and of the Buffalo police. An agent of the United States Secret Service said that the theory is held that Emma Goldman, the anarchist, was the prime mover in this plot, which may have contemplated a series of crimes, of which the murder of the President was only the beginning.

"Emma Goldman was in Buffalo last Monday. That has been known to the police for twenty-four hours. She was here under an assumed name. What the object of her visit was has not been learned, but presumably it was in connection with the crime that followed four days later. The police all over the United States are now searching for Emma Goldman, who seems to have disappeared utterly. Her arrest has been ordered.

"It can be stated on absolute authority that this woman teacher of anarchy will be expelled, if excuse of law can be found for such an act. Moreover, she will not go alone. Holding to the theory that the anarchists conspired against the Constitution, authority and the government of the United States, and planned the assassination of President McKinley, the members of the Cabinet will urge that strenuous efforts be made to eradicate them. Secretary Root is particularly earnest in urging this.

"Few believe that Czolgosz was alone in the crime, or that he has been anything more than a mere instrument under the control of the real conspirators. That other and important arrests are contemplated in the near future is known to be a fact."

TRACING HER MOVEMENTS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8.—Emma Goldman, the anarchist lecturer who wrote the book that Czolgosz says inspired him to attempt to assassinate the President, arrived in St. Louis Thursday night. She was in the city all day Friday, the day the President was shot. She stopped at No. 1851 South Thirteenth street, where she occupied a room until 7 o'clock Saturday evening. The police believe she departed later the same evening for Chicago or Buffalo. A woman of her description bought an order for a ticket to Chicago at a ticket office opposite the union station early that evening, but subsequently the ticket was sold to another person.

Whether she left the city or not, the police and the Federal officers are making efforts to find her. Detectives are working on several clews, the nature of which they will not give out, and the Federal authorities are giving the local officers every aid, while thoroughly prosecuting the search themselves.

SUPPRESSING "RED" TALK.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—There will be no more revolutionary speeches made in public in Chicago if the police can prevent them. The edict has gone forth from Mayor Harrison and Superintendent of Police O'Neill that such utterances shall be stopped, and the Chief later sent orders to the commanding officers of the various districts to detail men to be in attendance at all such meetings, and to arrest the speakers, if violent language is used.

PULPITS AGAINST ANARCHY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—In every pulpit in Chicago today denunciation of anarchy and its followers was the theme of the morning sermon. The indignation and horror of the people at the attempt on the President's life seem to have frozen Christian charity, for the prayers for the speedy recovery of the Chief Executive were followed by stirring demands in sermons that anarchy be stamped out so effectually that not a vestige be left.

ELEVEN PERSONS BOOKED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Eleven men and women who are avowed anarchists were formally booked tonight on the charge of conspiracy to commit murder. They will be taken before Justice Prindiville tomorrow morning for a hearing. It is said that the prosecution will ask for a continuance of ten days, that the police may have more time for an investigation. This was admitted tonight by Capt. Colleran.

"I am not prepared to say that a conspiracy to kill President McKinley was formed in Chicago," he said. "The evidence in our possession has been turned over to the law department, and while we are ready to begin the hearing tomorrow, it is possible that the city prosecutor may want more time. In that event we will ask for a continuance."

CORNETIST MAGGIO AND HIS PREDICTION.

EFFORTS TO LOCATE THE MAN SO FAR UNSUCCESSFUL.

He Left the Opera Company at Silver City, Arizona—Once Played in Soldiers' Home Band in Leavenworth. Talk With His Brother.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MOBILE (Ala.) Sept. 8.—Secret Service agents today sought out and interviewed the former members of the Andrews Opera Company who remained in Mobile when the troupe left for Kansas City, for the purpose of learning what they could about Antonio Maggio, the former cornet player of the company, who is alleged to have told Fritz Huttmann, another member of the company, last March, that the President would be assassinated before the first of October, this year. Maggio left the company at Silver City, Ariz. The department is anxious to locate Maggio. He is thought by former members of the Andrews company to be still in or about Silver City.

It is thought by the former members here that Maggio has a brother in business in Leavenworth, Kan. He is said to be a merchant.

KNOWN IN LEAVENWORTH.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Sept. 8.—Antonio Maggio is well known in Leavenworth. He was a member of the Soldiers' Home Band for about eight months, and also played with a local orchestra. A brother, Frank, is employed as a barber in a local shop. The two brothers were born in Palermo, Sicily. They came to America eight years ago, and lived for several years in New Orleans. Antonio Maggio left Leavenworth last January with the Andrews Opera Company as a musician, and his friends here have not heard from him since that time, except in a rumor that he had been sent to the penitentiary in Missouri for killing a man in that State.

Frank Maggio, when asked where his brother is, replied: "The last I heard he was in Silver City, N. M., in an orchestra there. I believe he is there yet. I heard of his killing a man in Missouri, and being sent to the penitentiary, but do not believe it."

When told that his brother had predicted the President's death, Maggio said: "Maybe he did. I don't know whether he belonged to any secret societies or not. He was a kind of a Socialist, and lived in Louisiana where the members of the Mafia were thick."

"Did he ever say anything to you about an order to kill President McKinley?" asked the reporter.

"No, he did not. You see he traveled around a whole lot. I never lived with him very much. He was hot-tempered, and we could not get along. I never heard of him joining any societies."

"Do you belong to any of these societies, or do you know of any order being made for McKinley's assassination?"

"No, I do not."

INDIGNANT POLES.

THEY REPUDIATE CZOLGOSZ.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Four hundred Polish-Americans gathered in St. Laurentius Roman Catholic Church today, passed resolutions deploring the shooting of the President, and protested against the statements that the would-be assassin was connected with the Polish people in this country. Among those present were five Polish priests.

Separate telegrams of sympathy were sent to both the President and Mrs. McKinley. Seventeen Polish-American societies, it is claimed, were represented at the meeting.

TO INVESTIGATE CZOLGOSZ.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—An indignation meeting, attended by about 500 Poles, of whom it is estimated there are 80,000 in New York City, was held today at the Church of St. Stanislaus, and bitter words of denunciation of Czolgosz and his crime were uttered, while the expression of sympathy for the President and those belonging to him was warm and universal. No doubt as to the nationality of the would-be assassin was expressed, and it was decided to send a delegate to Cleveland and Toledo at once to look into his ancestry and to prove to the American people that he is not a Pole, but a Russian by descent. That delegate will leave New York for the West tomorrow.

GUFFEY HOLLOW TREASON.

CIAMCAVILLA'S JUBILEE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

M'KEESPORT (Pa.) Sept. 8.—Two hundred anarchists celebrated today at Guffey Hollow, a mining hamlet across the Youghiogheny River from Buenavista, the attack on the President. Beer, whisky, speeches, songs and praises for Czolgosz were the order of the day. This is one of the largest anarchist groups in the country. It was started and led by Garcia Ciamcavilla, who now lives at Spring Valley, Ill., and edits the Firebrand, the anarchist organ. When Bresci assassinated King Humbert, Ciamcavilla declared that McKinley would be the next.

VOTED DOWN REGRETS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Two thousand members of the Socialists voted down a resolution of regret at the attempted assassination of the President, at a meeting in Bergman's Grove, Riverside, today. The argument of those opposed to the resolution was that the President is the representative of the capitalist class, and that his safety or danger are matters of no concern to Socialists.

CZAR TO BE GUARDED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Associated Press learns from Copenhagen tonight that no change is contemplated in the Czar's plans, and that Emperor Nicholas will surely go to France, and it may be also to Paris, but this is not yet settled. The chiefs of the Russian secret police in Paris and London and a staff of Russian detectives will attend him everywhere. He will start for Dantzic at noon Tuesday.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Judge A. H. Noyes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Judge A. H. Noyes of the Nome judicial district in Alaska, against whom have been preferred charges of corruption and irregularities in connection with the mining claims, arrived here tonight.

A severe attack of asthma compelled him to call in a physician, shortly after his arrival, and he was unable to see visitors.

PASSED "BUCK" FROM CROWD.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 8.—A mob formed at Booneville tonight to lynch Buck Wheeler, arrested last night for killing his son-in-law, Elias Burns. Sheriff Hudson of Warrick county telegraphed Gov. Durbin for a militia company to protect the prisoner, but, before the Governor, who was in Anderson, could be reached, the mob had entered the town. The Sheriff then appealed to the citizens of Booneville, who responded, heavily armed, and escorted the authorities with their prisoner to the train, where a coach was boarded, and Wheeler taken safely to Evansville. In the meantime the mob dispersed.

FIRE AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8.—Fire tonight destroyed J. H. Menges's wholesale grocery and I. M. Brundswig & Co.'s chemical warehouse. The loss was $200,000.

The Los Angeles Socialist Escapes Violence at York, Pa.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YORK (Pa.) Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] H. Gaylord Wilshire, the Socialist from Los Angeles, barely escaped violence here tonight in his efforts to address a public gathering. A number of citizens wanted to mob him. This county is the home of McKinley's ancestors.

Wilshire denounced the courts, and offered Mark Hanna $10,000 if he would defeat him in a joint debate on trusts, the audience to decide who was the winner.

ANXIETY AT MANILA.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, Sept. 8.—Genuine anxiety is felt by everybody here regarding the condition of the President. The first news of the attempted assassination of the President was received through the Associated Press.

ON THE COAST.

DISCORD IN SAN FRANCISCO.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—In all of the churches of this city today, prayers were offered for the recovery of the President, and from many pulpits the attempted assassination was deplored, and the would-be murderer strongly denounced.

The only discordant note in the general expression of sympathy was struck at a meeting of what is known as the San Francisco Independent Debating Club, held in a small hall on Market street. Here eighty-eight men and six women were assembled, and many of them applauded when the speakers upheld anarchy and villified the President of the United States, the Constitution and the Bible. There were few, if any, Americans present.

"GOD GRANT THAT HIS LIFE BE PRESERVED."

KING EDWARD VII SENDS THE MESSAGE TO CHOATE.

Monarch of Great Britain Wires From Fredensburg That He Rejoices to Hear the Favorable Account of the President's Health.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The following telegram from King Edward at Fredensburg to United States Ambassador Choate was received at 10 o'clock this evening:

I rejoice to hear the favorable account of the President's health. God grant that his life be preserved.

[Signed] EDWARD, Rex.

Prayers for the recovery of the President were offered in hundreds of British churches today, notably St. Paul's, Westminster Abbey and Canterbury Cathedral. At Rev. F. B. Myers's church in London, where there was a large attendance, including many Americans, the congregation rose and passed a resolution of sympathy.

Hundreds of callers made incessant inquiries throughout the day at the United States embassy. King Edward has shown keen anxiety. His first inquiry upon being met at Copenhagen by the Danish royalties was for news of the President's condition, and he immediately dispatched a congratulatory cablegram to Ambassador Choate. The United States Ambassador is keeping the King fully informed about the President's condition.

ENGLAND'S GENERAL RELIEF.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—General relief pervades England tonight over the favorable reports regarding the President's condition and the prospects of his recovery.

HUNGARY'S PREMIER.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—Robert S. McCormick, United States Minister to Austral-Hungary, cut short his visit to Carlsbad, where he had gone to take the waters, and returned here today. The Hungarian Premier telegraphed to Minister McCormick an expression of his indignation and sympathy.

PUNISHMENT OF "REDS."

THE BIRCH ROD SUGGESTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Tribune's London special says that nearly every newspaper this morning brings forward the question of how to deal with the anarchist movement. The act of Czolgosz is generally regarded as the deliberate work of the organization which exists in every country to strike terror by a system of murder.

The worst guilt is not that of the actual assassin; it lies with the creators of perverse and wicked propaganda, who never dream of handling weapons more dangerous than the pen or to venture into any position more perilous than the platform. Such deeds as the dastardly crime at Buffalo prove that no consideration of any sort should be extended to the so-called anarchist clubs.

Even if Czolgosz planned the attack on the President on his own personal initiative, his action exemplified the tendency of anarchist teaching throughout the civilized world. This is the general tenor of today's leading articles. Society is openly attacked, and society must protect itself. It has ample means at its disposal, and the first and most obvious of these is concerted action to cut off the pestilential stream of anarchical propaganda at its fountainhead.

There is not, however, complete agreement as to the punishment which should be meted out to the actual perpetrators of crimes, such as the one at Buffalo. One newspaper suggests that as an anarchist is quite willing to incur certain death in order to have the pleasure of displaying his principles, recourse might be had to the old-fashioned remedy of the birch. Seekers after glory would not, it is argued, readily choose the path that leads to the birch rod and whipping block.

Opinion also prevails that the American system which exposes a President to personal contact with miscellaneous mobs should be modified in some ways.

RUSSIA'S STRONG REGARD.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—The Russian newspapers, like those of other countries, are intensely absorbed in the anarchist side of the attempted assassination of President McKinley, and they also express strong regard for the United States, and for the victim of the outrage.

KING AND KAISER.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILBURN HOUSE, Buffalo, Sept. 8.—Following are the messages from King Edward and Emperor William:

KIEL, Sept. 7.—To the President of the United States, Buffalo: Am horrified beyond words at the dastardly attempt on your life. My best and warmest good wishes and most earnest hopes for your recovery.

[Signed] EDWARD.

The Kaiser sent the following:

KOENIGSBERG, Sept. 6.—To President of the United States, Buffalo: Deeply distressed by news of the dastardly attempt on your life. I express to you how I and the whole of the German people feel for you and the anguish through which your country has to pass. May the Lord grant you a sure and speedy recovery.

[Signed] WILLIAM II, R.

ITALY'S QUEEN AND POPE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Queen Margherita upon hearing the news of the attempt upon the life of President McKinley, says the Rome correspondent of the Daily News, with tears in her eyes, said: "These things come hardest on the women, and at least poor Mrs. McKinley, in her state of health, should have been spared."

The Pope, the Daily News correspondent says, also displayed deep emotion, saying: "Oh, how earnestly I pray that he may escape with his life. These crimes are the curse of our day. I can only offer the afflicted victim and his poor wife my humble prayers."

BRITAIN'S FINANCIAL FUTURE.

AFFECTED BY THE TRAGEDY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The immediate financial future hangs anxiously on the outcome of President McKinley's injuries. Fortunately, the Stock Exchange was closed yesterday for repairs, thus the market probably escaped a feverish, if not worse, ending. Otherwise the week was rather uninteresting.

Until definite news shall have been received from Buffalo, it is impossible to expect the speculative public to embark upon any executive undertakings and thus a temporary check is put to the resumption of activity which recently seemed in sight. Next to the attempted assassination of the President, the condition of money is the dominant factor in the situation. Gold shipments of two or three millions for New York are imminent. Possibly this amount will be considerably exceeded on account of the anxiety and uncertainty.

CHARGED TO THE TRUSTS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The Neu Weiner Journal says: "President McKinley has probably fallen a victim to the gigantic trusts which have developed so rapidly under his aegis, for these trusts have deprived a number of workmen of their means of subsistence."

VICTIM OF STUPID CRIME.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—The Vovoe Vreyma, referring to the attempted assassination of President McKinley, says: "In the great republic beyond the sea a horrible crime has been committed, the news of which has filled the whole civilized world with horror, indignation and grief. President McKinley was the victim of one of those stupid crimes which, to the shame of humanity, continue. The circumstances augment the horror of the crime. What happened in Gethsemane nineteen centuries ago is repeated. This new Judas kiss has reverberated through the world. The answer will only be indignant contempt."

A DETRACTOR DOUSED.

AND CHURCH SERVICES WAITED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Church service was deferred in the little town of Fairmont, Neb., today, while the younger members of the congregation chastised H. D. Gosser, a detractor of the President. Gosser stood in the center of a group on the steps of the Presbyterian Church, and took part in the conversation on the common theme. He remarked that the parishioners were simply kissing the hand of their oppressors in expressing regret at his overthrow. It afforded him pleasure, he said, to see the promoter of trusts come to a violent end.

A party of young men interrupted Gosser at this juncture, and carried him to a small pond a short distance away. The victim was repeatedly doused, until nearly drowned. He was then set astride a rail and headed a procession along the roads. His captors dumped him into a thicket and returned to the church.

The congregation waited the outcome outside the building, and upon the return of the party, entered church and began service, an hour behind the usual time.

PARIS POLICE STIRRED UP.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Sept. 8.—Today's confirmation of the Buffalo outrage has stirred the police here into action, particularly in relation to the Czar's visit. The ministry of the interior has telegraphed severe instructions to the special commissaries in the provinces to exercise the closest vigilance upon anarchists. Special detectives also have been dispatched to the industrial centers to aid the police in watching anarchists and other agitators. Any anarchist who is considered dangerous, or whose movements are suspicious will be taken into custody. All the commissaries possess portraits and descriptions of the anarchists known to the international police. Several Italian anarchists, who have been specially shadowed, left Paris recently, but all but two of them have been located and the police expect to unearth them very quickly.

AGAINST ANARCHISM.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The Vienna newspapers express themselves strongly in denunciation of anarchists. The Neueste Wiener Tageblatt says: "The country in its bitterness will probably take energetic measures to destroy the nursery of anarchism in the United States."

The Wiener Tageblatt says that President McKinley is the first statesman of America, and perhaps the greatest and most influential in the world since Bismarck.

ALL HOPING.

ful eyes of physicians and trained nurses, showed no unfavorable signs. Five times during the day the doctors and surgeons assembled for consultation, and each time the verdict was unanimous that what change had occurred was for the better.

Not the slightest premonitory symptoms of peritonitis appeared, and the fresh hope born with the morning grew stronger and stronger as the day advanced, until toward evening the confidence expressed in the President's recovery seemed almost too sanguine.

Dr. Charles McBurney, the famous New York surgeon, who had been summoned in consultation, after a thorough examination, in which he said he had found not a single unfavorable symptom, joined in the last afternoon bulletin, which declared that the President's condition was satisfactory to the physicians present. It is not strange, therefore, that the Vice-President, the members of the Cabinet and other distinguished visitors who called came away with lighter hearts and buoyant tread, and gave expression to the most optimistic sentiments.

The encouraging news spread over the exposition city with great rapidity, and thousands came in carriages, in street cars and afoot to learn for themselves of the faith and confidence that existed about the Milburn house. The brightness of the day, with its cool, bracing atmosphere, added to the general cheerfulness, and when a score of newsboys darted into the crowd about 6 o'clock shouting "Extra! The President will live," it was with difficulty that they could suppress the shouts of thanksgiving that rose in their throats. And the newspaper men, many of whom have been at their posts for forty-eight hours continuously, remained steadfastly throughout the day in the little white-walled tents across the street from the house where the country's patient lay and flashed the news over the land and the sea.

NOT OUT OF DANGER.

And yet, despite all this optimism, the President is by no means out of danger. None of his physicians, not one of his advisers who is admitted to the inner councils, has the temerity to go so far as to declare that he is. But if he continues to improve for one day more, the danger of peritonitis, which is most dreaded, will have practically disappeared.

Yesterday one of the doctors thought forty-eight hours would be the limit of the danger from that source, but in more conservative colleagues believe at least twenty-four hours, possibly forty-six from this time, must elapse before the possibility of peritonitis shall have vanished. That disposed of, still other complications may arise. Blood poisoning may set in, or an abscess form where the bullet is imbedded in the muscles of the back. Thus far the ball of the assassin, which is still in the body, gives the physicians no anxiety. If the slightest inflammation appears in the region of the lead, it will be immediately extracted.

No difficulty is anticipated in this regard. One of Edison's best X-ray machines, with his most skilled and trusted assistant, Dr. H. A. Knolls, arrived today. The batteries were charged and the machine is ready for instant use. While the physicians say there is not the slightest doubt that the ball can be located perfectly for an operation, they do not deem it advisable to sap the President's strength at this time. All the reserve force is needed here to resist the danger of peritonitis and septic poisoning. Besides, if inflammation does not set in around the bullet, it will soon become encysted.

FOUR HOURS OF SLEEP.

All the effects of the ether which was administered when the operation was performed on the exposition grounds had disappeared this morning, and the President's mind was perfectly clear during the time he was awake today. Today, for the first time, he enjoyed natural sleep. While he was still more or less under the influence of the anesthetic, his slumber was restless and disturbed, and did him little real good. Today, between 2 and 6 o'clock, he had the solace of natural slumber for about four hours, and the physicians stated officially that his sleep had been "quiet and refreshful," and had helped the sufferer a great deal. Today, also, for the first time, nourishment was administered. It was in liquid form, and was injected hypodermically to avoid the possibility of irritating the walls of the stomach. The exterior wound was dressed this morning, and is progressing satisfactorily.

THE OFFICIAL ASSOCIATE.

All day, the members of the Cabinet and others associated with the President in public life came solicitously and went away almost jubilantly, all basing the hopeful outlook at the Milburn house. Vice-President Roosevelt received the earlier bulletins, and after going to church, hurried to the house. There he was joined by Senator Hanna. They came away together and gave expression to the most confident and encouraging sentiments. The Vice-President not only voiced the cheerful feeling, but was extremely optimistic. Both gentlemen took occasion to denounce in unmeasured terms the statements gaining credence in some quarters that the bulletins were not frank in their communications to the public. They maintained that the President's favorable symptoms even understated by the physicians through motives of conservatism during the seventy-two-hour period.

Later, Secretary Cortelyou took occasion to emphasize this very pointedly by issuing an official statement assuring the public of the complete trustworthiness of the bulletins sent out by the physicians. Senator Hanna came and went during the afternoon, and was driven far removed from the Milburn house. Secretary Root has taken up quarters immediately next door, and was in frequent consultation with those inside. He and Secretary Gage, Secretary Hitchcock and Atty.-Gen. Knox called together about noon, and, indeed, there was no time during the day when some member of the Cabinet was not in the house where his stricken chief lay.

Even those most prominent in public life did not see him, as the doctors would not relax the ironclad rule they had laid down to prevent the least strain upon his energies and vitality. Those who came and went moved silently and reverently, receiving the bulletin statements from the doctors, and departing. All the members of the Cabinet are here, except Secretaries Hay and Long. The former telegraphed today that he would start from Newbury Port, and would probably be here tomorrow night. Secretary Long telegraphed that he was coming, but did not specify the time. The Cabinet officers feel it to be their duty to be here in this crisis to meet any emergency. They are holding no formal meetings, although there are some matters of public business which they daily discuss informally, and the possible contingencies should the President grow worse are also thoroughly canvassed. They do not believe that there is the most remote possibility that Vice-President Roosevelt will be called upon to exercise the functions of Chief Magistrate under the disability clause of the Constitution while the President lives.

Vice-President Roosevelt will not hear of such a course. Still, in the event of grave international complications, an emergency might occur, and the question has arisen in their minds as to who should proclaim the disability provided for by the Constitution. That instrument is silent on the subject. There is no precedent to follow. During the protracted illness of President Garfield before his death, Vice-President Arthur was not called upon to act. The consensus of opinion among the members of the Cabinet is that should the occasion arise they themselves would have to decide and proclaim the existence of the disability. The Supreme Court, they say, could not do so, as there would be no way in which the question could be raised before that tribunal.

The members of the Cabinet are making their headquarters at the Buffalo Club, and there the interchanges take place. They are to remain here for the present, and the plans of departures are indefinite and not even thought of while the President is not entirely out of danger. If he should pass the danger point, however, they will return at once to Washington.

Vice-President Roosevelt's attendance at the morning service of the First Presbyterian Church gave occasion for a heartfelt expression of the sorrow universally felt over the calamity and the detestation of the assassin's methods. A fervid prayer by the pastor, Dr. Mitchell, invoked the sternest reprobation of anarchy, and asked that the temples of public life be scourged of men willing to temporize with the madness of anarchy.

WORLD-WIDE INTEREST.

The interest in the President's condition was such across the Canadian border that the Associated Press was asked to furnish a bulletin this morning, to be read in the churches in Quebec and Montreal and many requests of a similar character came direct to Secretary Cortelyou from different parts of the United States.

The messages of sympathy from all over the United States and all over the world, in fact, have fairly overwhelmed Secretary Cortelyou. Two more White House stenographers have been sent for, and upon their arrival, perhaps tomorrow, some of the more important messages will be made public.

Almost every government in the world has been heard from, most of the crowned heads of Europe sending personal messages. Among the latter are King Edward, Emperor William, the Kings of Portugal, Italy and Sweden and the Sultan of Turkey. President Loubet of the republic of France has also cabled his sympathy direct. One of the most touching messages thus far received was from Mme. Labori, the wife of Maitre Labori, who defended Dreyfus in his famous trial at Rennes.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S FORTITUDE.

Mrs. McKinley continues to bear up bravely and her fortitude under the circumstances is regarded as remarkable. One of her dearest and closest friends, Mrs. Band of Washington, has arrived here, and will probably remain with her during this trying period.

THE PRESIDENT'S SECRETARY.

Secretary Cortelyou, in whose hands the management of everything seems to be, was able to take some rest this morning, for the first time since the tragedy. The great confidence which the President has in his secretary could not have been more strikingly illustrated than at the exposition hospital, when he was about to be placed upon the operating table. The President realized that the sooner the operation was performed the better, and he was perfectly willing to submit himself to the knife. His only solicitude was as to the competency of the surgeons who were to perform the operation. Just before he was placed upon the table, he called Secretary Cortelyou to him and asked whether the surgeons were all right. Mr. Cortelyou assured him that he had made inquiries, and that they were reputed to be among the most skillful in their profession. The President accepted the assurance instantly, and immediately announced he was ready.

CABINET AND CZOLGOSZ.

The members of the Cabinet are doing everything in their power to prevent the sensational exploitation of Czolgosz, because he undoubtedly craves notoriety, and because his fellow-anarchists throughout the country love it. They do not desire to place any stone in the path of the authorities who are laboring to unravel the plot, if any plot existed, and all the machinery of the government Secret Service will be used to aid the State authorities in the prosecution of their investigation. But, by the direct request of Secretary Root, on behalf of his colleagues, the District Attorney and the police will not permit the prisoner to be seen or interviewed, nor will they discuss the methods of the results of their efforts to discover the originators of the plot. All that has leaked out from the jail shows that the prisoner is vain and boastful of his crime, and would, if given an oportunity, fill the newspapers with columns of his vaporings.

ABNER M'KINLEY ARRIVES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO (N. Y.), Sept. 9.—Abner McKinley, brother of the President, reached here at 12:20 o'clock a.m. He was was admitted to the house at once.

VICE-PRESIDENT COMMENDED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Vice-President Roosevelt has shown no desire to assume any of the duties of the stricken President. His conduct ever since the President was shot has been such as to command the admiration even of the political enemies in his own party. His concern for the President's condition has been that of a personal friend toward a well-beloved chief.

Many advised the Vice-President after the news of the shooting reached him at Buffalo, to go straight to Washington and await there the result of the President's injuries, but the Vice-President would not hear of this. He went to Buffalo as a personal friend of the President, and will remain near him until there is no doubt of recovery.

All passion against Czolgosz, the would-be assassin, seems to have disappeared here, and the day passed as quietly as any ordinary Sunday since the exposition opened.

AT MILBURN HOUSE.

SILENT CROWDS GATHER EARLY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MILBURN HOUSE (Buffalo) Sept. 8.—The scene about the Milburn residence this morning was calm and peaceful. The Sabbath had dawned with a blazing sun and a cool northwest wind. About the adjoining streets the soldier guards with fixed bayonets paced their beats, and opposite on the vacant lot where four tents have been erected for the use of the newspaper men and the telegraph companies, a group of reporters with an attendant throng of messenger boys talked in suppressed tones.

At the residence, except for a solitary policeman at the main entrance, there was no sign of life until 8 o'clock, when Gen. Carrington of Massachusetts arrived to inquire of the President's condition. Soon afterward Drs. Park, Wasdin and Mann arrived for the morning consultation. Then twenty-seven men of the Fourteenth Infantry, with two sergeants and two corporals, under the command of Second Lieut. Hamilton, marched up to relieve the night detail. While the physicians were in consultation, Elmer Dover, Senator Hanna's private secretary, appeared with a message from the Senator asking for news. Dr. Rixey sent him a very encouraging message, to the effect that the President had had a very good night, and that none of the unfavorable symptoms which were dreaded so much, had appeared. At 9 o'clock the doctors issued a bulletin, which was by far the most encouraging statement that has yet emerged from the sick room, and the face of the attendant who brought it across to the newspaper tent fairly beamed as he handed it to the reporters.

"It is good news," said he.

Eagerly it was scanned, and its confident tone aroused high hopes.

The fact that the physicians had officially proclaimed that there were no indications of peritonitis dispelled any misgivings that may have been harbored that perhaps the physicians were concealing something.

Mr. Milburn soon afterward still further increased the cheerful feeling by a personal statement to the effect that the physicians were greatly encouraged as a result of this consultation. His manner and his smiling, happy countenance bespoke the joy which he unmistakably felt.

SILENT CROWDS.

Before 9:30 o'clock silent crowds had congregated at the ropes far down the intersecting streets. Inquiries for news from the sick room were made in whispers, as if the least audible sound might disturb the country's patient a third of a mile away. The reassuring report that there had been no change for the worse, and that the doctors were encouraged, was received with manifestations of joy. Faces brightened, and there was much thanksgiving. The majority of the inquirers after receiving the cheering news, turned back into the heart of the city to carry the glad tidings to their homes, but many remained at the ropes, taking up their positions as if they intended to remain there for the remainder of the day.

A few who could furnish a reasonable pretext were allowed to pass the first line of sentries to the second rope, a block from the Milburn residence, and by 10 o'clock several hundred people were at the inner lines on either side.

X-RAY MACHINE.

At 10 o'clock, Dr. H. A. Knoll, who brought the X-ray machine, reached the Milburn residence, and reported that the machine had arrived. It will be brought to the house at once, but it is understood that the physicians will not make use of it for the present, unless signs of inflammation appear in the locality where the bullet is supposed to have lodged.

Mrs. McKinley passed a comfortable night, and shows no sign of breaking down. The whole atmosphere about the Milburn residence is perceptibly brighter.

DR. M'BURNEY.

A few minutes after the X-ray machine arrived Dr. Charles McBurney, the famous New York surgeon, drove hastily up to the residence. Secretary Cortelyou and Mr. Milburn had met him at the station. The President, who was free from pain for the first few hours after the shooting, has suffered considerably since, and when unconscious or semi-conscious moans as if in agony. When completely conscious, however, he bravely gives no sign of suffering.

Maj. and Mrs. Rand, who are intimate friends of the President and Mrs. McKinley, reached Buffalo this morning from Washington, and went immediately to the Milburn residence. Mrs. Rand is one of Mrs. McKinley's closest personal friends, and her presence with the President's wife during this trying period will be, it is believed, a great comfort to the latter.

Dr. McBurney was at Stockbridge, Ct., when the summons to come to Buffalo reached him, and he came direct from there. It is explained that Dr. McBurney's appearance in the case has no immediate significance, and does not in any way reflect upon the attending physicians. It was simply desired that the best talent in the country in medicine and surgery should be present in order that in the event of a fatal termination of the President's wounds there could be no criticism, and his family and friends would have nothing with which to reproach themselves.

Dr. McBurney is considered one of the best surgeons of the country, and his reputation is world-wide. His counsel is desired, although the President's advisers have the fullest confidence in Dr. Park, who also enjoys the highest reputation as a surgeon. Indeed, he is considered by far the ablest surgeon in this part of the State.

CABINET AND ANARCHISTS.

There is no truth in the reports that the Cabinet yesterday discussed the question of the wholesale arrest of anarchists in different parts of the country, although in an informal way they have naturally talked over the danger from those advocates of the destruction of all governments, and the advisability of possible legislation upon the subject. Neither have they canvassed, so far as can be learned, the advisability of a proclamation to foreign countries concerning the catastrophe. The necessity for such a notification would seem useless, as every government in the world has already taken cognizance of the crime, as is evident from the cables from all parts of the world that have poured in here.

BULLETINS TO MONARCHS.

Either directly or through the prime ministers, every government in Europe has expressed its sympathy. Not only did King Edward and Emperor William cable direct in their own names, but the King of Portugal, King Oscar of Sweden, the Sultan of Turkey, President Loubet of France and the King of Italy have sent personal messages. These monarchs have not hesitated to denounce in the strongest language the deed of the assassin. The bulletins concerning the President's condition are being sent to all these inquirers abroad. Should occasion arise, a contingency only considered a very remote possibility, for the Vice-President to discharge the duties of President during the latter's disability, the Cabinet would have to determine and proclaim the necessity for such a course.

The present situation has called prominently to the attention of the members of the Cabinet and of other distinguished statesmen and publicists who are gathering here the vagueness of the Constitution upon this point. It contains no word or direction as to who shall determine the existence of the disability which would render it incumbent upon the Vice-President to act, but it appears to be the general opinion that the Cabinet is the only body which could proclaim the disability within the meaning of the Constitution. It is considered probable that the haziness of the Constitution upon this point will lead to agitation for an enactment, and if necessary for a constitutional amendment to define exactly what shall constitute disability of the President, and to provide for the temporary exercise of the functions of Chief Magistrate by the Vice-President.

SECRETARY WILSON.

Secretary Wilson, Senator Proctor of Vermont and Maj.-Gen. Brooke were admitted to the Milburn residence about 11 o'clock, and appeared greatly encouraged by the news they received. Secretary Cortelyou sauntered over to the newspaper reservation about 11:30 o'clock, and, when questioned, stated emphatically that he felt much relieved that no unfavorable symptoms had appeared. He said the bulletin issued this morning was without doubt the most favorable yet issued.

Mayor Diehl of Buffalo today received the following cablegram from Frederico Elgura, Mayor of Lima, Peru: "Learned with greatest indignation of the infamous attempt against the life of President. In behalf of municipal corporation and of all citizens, this capital beg you to convey to the President our deepest sympathy and ardent wishes for speedy recovery."

He also received the following from Philip C. Hansa, American Consul-General to Mexico: "Americans and Mexicans await anxiously news concerning President. Please telegraph twice daily my expense."

Secretary Gage and Secretary Root arrived at the Milburn residence at 11:40 o'clock, and were received in the drawing-room by Secretary Cortelyou. Secretary Root was accompanied by his physician, Dr. Dixon, who came to Buffalo with him from Southampton, L. I.

DR. M'BURNEY CERTAIN.

MILBURN HOUSE, Sept. 8, 12:40 p.m.—Senator Fairbanks has just left the Milburn house, and is full of hope. He said that the physicians feel certain and confident of the President's recovery.

Dr. McBurney, after a thorough examination, reported that he could not find a single unfavorable symptom. There was not the slightest indication of peritonitis. The opinion of the famous physician carries much weight. A local physician, a specialist with whom Dr. Park consulted, told Representative Alexander that Dr. Park was exceedingly hopeful. He said to Mr. Alexander: "I feel certain the President will get well. This is not 1831, but 1901, and great strides have been made in surgery in the last twenty years."

Vice-President Roosevelt arrived at the residence at 12:45 o'clock. He walked over from the First Presbyterian Church, Pennsylvania street, where he attended service this morning. He was accompanied by Ansley Wilcox, whose guest he is. Representative Alexander and Judge Albert Haight entered immediately after the Vice-President.

Senator Fairbanks and Senator Hanna arrived just before the noon bulletin was issued, and joined the distinguished company gathered below stairs in the drawing-room. All were overjoyed when the good news came down from the sick room. The lower temperature and the decreased rapidity of pulse were particularly gratifying, and increased the hope that the crisis would be safely passed.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon Mrs. McKinley went out for a drive. A closed carriage drove up to the side entrance. Mrs. McKinley was assisted into the carriage by Secretary Cortelyou. Mrs. Lafayette McWilliams of Chicago accompanied her. They drove out Delaware avenue toward the park.

The batteries of the X-ray machine were charged early this afternoon, and the machine is ready for instant use. According to all information obtainable, however, it will not be employed for the present, unless the bullet in the muscles of the President's back grows troublesome.

Mrs. McKinley returned from her drive at 3:20 o'clock, having been out in the sunshine for about an hour. She seemed refreshed, and it needed but slight assistance from Mr. Milburn to aid her in alighting.

KING EDWARD.

King Edward VII has sent a message of feeling condolence to the President. This and a number of other messages received, will be made public as soon as Secretary Cortelyou is able to turn his attention from the immediate duty of ministering to the President. Among the interesting messages is one from Mme. Labori, wife of counsel in the famous Dreyfus case, extending heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. McKinley. This message also will be given out probably tomorrow.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Abner McKinley, brother of the President, passed through here today en route to Buffalo from Colorado. The party occupied a private car, which was attached to the Lake Shore train, leaving at 8:30 o'clock a.m., and due to arrive in Buffalo at 10 o'clock p.m.

CHIEFS OF POLICE.

UNIFORM POLICY PROPOSED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Maj. Richard Sylvester, as president of the National Association of Chiefs of Police of the United States and Canada, yesterday took a decisive step looking to the adoption of a uniform policy throughout the world in dealing with anarchists by addressing a letter to the board of directors of the association requesting their coöperation in bringing the various heads of the police departments of the world together in convention. The communication follows:

The National Association of Chiefs of Police of the United States and Canada at the last annual meeting adopted a resolution inviting the heads of foreign police departments to participate in our annual discussions, and the distressing calamity which this country has recently experienced through the assault by an unknown assassin, confirms the belief that the import of the resolution should be impressed on foreign officials, with a view of having such of their number present at our next annual meeting as may be able to attend; this with the hope that a closer relationship may be established officially and personally, and that there may be an interchange of opinion as to the best methods to be pursued to eliminate from society such organizations and persons as may be evilly disposed toward institutions of government and those charged with their conduct.

Active efforts are suggested looking to the eradication of the evils and information gathered and disseminated through the National Bureau of Criminal Identification with a view of accomplishing such result. This proposition will be acted upon by the directors individually by mail. If the board of directors vote to adopt their executive's views, the secretary of the association will be authorized to address a letter to the officials having charge of the police affairs of the European nations requesting their attendance at the convention next year, when it is expected some definite steps will be taken to effectually stamp out or destroy the danger arising from anarchistic plots. The letters to the board of directors were mailed yesterday, and Maj. Sylvester expects to receive replies within a week.

NEW YORK PRAYING FOR THE PRESIDENT.

UNIFORM SUPPLICATION IN THE CATHOLIC CHURCHES.

In Some Cases Demand is Made for Measures of Suppression Against Anarchistic Propaganda—Schools to Have Prayer This Afternoon.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Not a church service was held in New York City or its environs today at which prayers were not offered for the recovery of the President. And coupled with the supplications was a strong undercurrent of thanksgiving that the tone of the dispatches from Buffalo was of an encouraging character.

There was no concerted action in this matter by the churches, other than that called forth by Mayor Van Wyck's proclamation of Saturday calling on the pastors of churches of all denominations to direct their services with special reference to the suffering President. In the Protestant Episcopal churches, almost without exception, the full text of the litany of general supplication was read, and the name of the President was inserted in the general prayer for the sick.

In all the Roman Catholic churches, a special uniform prayer was offered at every mass. At a majority of the pulpits those occupying them took as their theme the attempt on the life of the President, and in almost every case some reference was made to the tragedy, either in the sermon itself, or in a prelude. In some instances, demand was made for measures of suppression against the anarchistic propaganda, which was generally held responsible for the deed of Czolgosz.

Tomorrow (Monday) will witness another session of prayer and pleading. In the afternoon, the children of the public schools of this city and Brooklyn, to the number of hundreds of thousands, will follow the instructions of the president of the Board of Education, and under the lead of their teachers will hold a special session of prayer for the President.

At Old Trinity Church today, Rev. Alfred L. Griffen, in addition to referring to the President in the prayer for persons under affliction, included the President's wife, and this was the case in most of the churches. The keynote of the sermons may be gathered from these words used by Mr. Griffin: "The whole nation, aye, the whole world, today is watching at the bedside of a President, whom it has learned to regard as just and true. We are under the shadow of a great anxiety, overwhelmed by a great calamity. It is to God that the people turn to at such a time. In Him lie the power and strength to heal the sick. May it be His will to restore to us our President in life and strength."

Rev. Howard Agnew Johnson of the Madison-avenue Presbyterian Church, in a sermon based on Gideon as an Israelite leader, had this to say of the President: "Thus he (Gideon) resembles our great leaders—Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln. Most conspicuous of all, and last, but not least, William McKinley, the man whose soul is now hovering between life and death, the man whose name will go down to posterity identified with the movement which has made our republic into an empire, though still retaining the form of republican government."

Rev. Hugh Black, associate pastor of Free St. George's Church, Edinburgh, Scotland, was in the pulpit of the Fifth-avenue Presbyterian Church today. As a prelude to his sermon, he said: "I feel that I am called upon to express somewhat of your feelings and your sympathy, and to lead your prayers for President McKinley, who is the victim of such a dastardly crime. Though a stranger to your country, it is easy for me to do this, since it needs no local knowledge of policies, but merely the expression of the universal heart of man. As for the deed itself, the whole civilized world must pronounce abhorrence, not only of the act, but of the detestable principles which inspired it. Nowhere outside of America, moreover, will sorrow be keener or prayer be more fervent than in Great Britain."

Preceding the prayer for the President, at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Father Dyer said: "As you are aware that a great calamity has befallen the nation during the last few days, in an attempt on the life of its Chief Executive, and as it is of vital importance that he should again be able to continue an administration which has brought so much of happiness and prosperity to this country, your prayers are requested for his speedy restoration."

COL. HERRICK'S VIEWS.

DEATH FOR ANARCHISTS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—Col. Myron T. Herrick, one of the President's most intimate friends, arrived here early today from Buffalo, having left the Milburn residence about midnight.

"When I left Buffalo the physicians felt greatly encouraged, and all had strong hopes that the President would pull through," said the colonel to the Associated Press correspondent today. Referring to the would-be assassin and anarchists, Col. Herrick said:

"In view of the general feeling aroused among the people of the country against anarchists as a result of the shooting of President McKinley, it seems to me that the time is most opportune to demand a change in the laws so that any attempt on the life of the Chief Executive may be punished by death. There is a strong sentiment in favor of Congress taking action during the coming session in reference to the matter. I was told in Buffalo that if President McKinley recovers his assailant probably cannot be punished by more than seven years' imprisonment under the laws of New York. To me this seems a condition that should be remedied by national legislation at the earliest possible moment.

"Once in four years the people of this country elect a president, and he immediately becomes a target for every cheap crank looking for notoriety in the country. In my opinion every anarchist in the United States should be hunted down like a mad dog, and confined, just as are lunatics or other dangerous persons."

Continuing, Col. Herrick said that it was due to the authorities of Buffalo to say that they had taken every possible precaution to avoid an attack on the President, and that no fault whatever could be attached to the officials as a result of the shooting. Col. Herrick will return to Buffalo tonight.

ILLINOIS PRAYERFUL.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ALEXANDRIA BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 8.—Gov. Yates of Illinois, who is here, said to a reporter of the Associated Press today: "I am sure Lieut.-Gov. Northcott's proclamation designating a day of prayer for the President's recovery will be complied with in every part of Illinois. President McKinley's many admirable qualities have so endeared him to the people of our commonwealth that his dangerous and possibly fatal injury will cause them the most profound and universal grief."

DRIVER KEPT ON DRIVING.

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 8.—A special to the Oregonian from Lakeview, Or., says that a lone highwayman attempted to hold up the Ager-Lakeview stage, about thirty miles west of here at midnight last night. The driver refused to halt, and the robber shot at him five times, but all the shots missed their mark. There were three lady passengers aboard the stage.

STORM ANNIVERSARY.

GALVESTON (Tex.) Sept. 8.—The first anniversary of the great storm was appropriately observed in Galveston today with services on the beach at the foot of Broadway. Special memorial services were held in all the churches this morning, and tonight a union service was held at the First Presbyterian Church, in which all the Protestant congregations took part.

Her First Mistake.

The infant of the household was in its cradle. The head of the house was at home, peevish and fault-finding. At length he became unendurable. "You've done nothing but make mistakes tonight," he growled.

LABOR DISPUTES

PUSHING THE LEADERS FOR A SETTLEMENT.

Shaffer Is Told by Amalgamators' Board That Strike Must End. Five Mills to Reopen Today.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Sept. 8.—If the plans of President Shaffer were for the Executive Board to go to New York and confer with President Schwab of the United States Steel Corporation tomorrow, their plans were abandoned. The entire membership of the board was in Pittsburgh today with the exception of Vice-Presidents Morgan, Jenkins and Tarkins, who went to their homes for Sunday and who were expected to return to Pittsburgh tomorrow morning. President Shaffer was not at home all day, and it was stated at his house that it was not known where he was or when he would return. Those of the Executive Board who were in the city and could be seen said they did not know whether there would be a meeting of the Executive Board tomorrow or not. If there was, it was expected that the business before that body would be finished up and the board would adjourn before night.

While the members of the board did not say so, it was intimated by those in close touch with them that they had plainly told President Shaffer that a settlement of the strike was imperative, and that he had better put himself in communication with President Schwab and gain an understanding. In other words, the Executive Board of the Amalgamated Association were pushing the leaders for a settlement and to end the battle. It was said also in a semi-official way that President Shaffer was communicating with President Schwab personally today.

It was believed that he had either gone to Schwab's summer home in Loretto, or else was meeting him in New York. The leaders are making strenuous efforts to hold the men in line, in the hope that some means of settlement will come in a few days at the furthest. If it fails, it is believed the men will break away and return to work as individuals. That would be worse than the terms that have thus far been offered by the corporation. At the same time, the delay that has occurred and is still going on, under the terms offered, is telling more severely than ever against the strikers and their organization.

While the officials of the Amalgamated Association were awaiting some report from their president, the strike about the mills now being operated by the non-union men forces gathered by the combine were finding little to do.

The mills were all closed today, and preparations were being made to start five more on a more extensive basis tomorrow. The Star mill expects to operate with an increased force of men. The Painton mills on the South Side were preparing to operate double turn for the first time. The Lindsey-McCutcheon mills in Allegheny are prepared to start additional machinery and increase the output. There was no indication of trouble or excitement anywhere.

The report from McKeesport tonight is that the official announcement that the National Tube Works will be started in the morning at 7 o'clock has aroused the strikers to a high pitch of excitement. All night long crowds have been on the streets and around the mill. The strikers assert that they have 2000 pickets on duty, and say more will be called, if necessary, to prevent any more non-unionists entering the mills. The company claims to have 1000 men ready for the start.

BAY VIEW WORKERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 8.—The Bay View Iron Workers' meeting, after a stormy session today, broke up in a row. The radical element left the hall, and the remaining members, not quite half of those in attendance, voted to return to work and will do so tomorrow when the mills will start up.

Trouble is looked for when the men return to work tomorrow. Fires had been lighted at the mills preparatory to starting tomorrow morning, whether the lodge voted to return or not. This action of the company, it is believed, was the cause of the question being settled today, as the company, it is said, was prepared to start the mills with non-union men.

Those who voted to return to work are made up of married men who have worked at the Bay View mills for many years, owning their own homes and having families to support.

IN SAN FRANCISCO.

PEACE TALK DYING AWAY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—The eighth week of the strike opens with no prospect of an immediate settlement. The talk of peace which has been heard for several days has almost ceased, and it is now generally understood that there can be no conciliation or middle ground between the employers and strikers. One side or the other must admit defeat, in order to reach a settlement. According to those who profess to be well informed, the matter has now settled down to a waiting game, and time only will tell which can hold out the longest.

On the city front today there was no disturbance, but in other parts of the city several men were beaten and robbed. Twenty-two arrests were booked at the Harbor Police Station last night on charges of drunkenness, and one arrest was made on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Out of the twenty-three arrested, twelve were sailors and six firemen.

Fred Muffelman, a non-union hoisting engineer, was attacked by three men and very badly beaten. John Ottesen, who was with him, was also hurt, but not seriously.

Thomas T. Gordon, a member of the Shingiers' Union, was beaten by five men and robbed of $19 and a gold watch and chain.

Herbert Matheson, an employé on the transport Samoa, has reported to the police that he was set upon, beaten and robbed of $20 by three men on Howard street today.

Charles Nelson, owner of a large fleet of steam schooners and other craft, is making preparations to use the steamer Oleum as a boarding vessel for stevedores who will work on his vessels. The Oleum will accommodate 200 men.

Colombian Government Continually Moving Troops Forward to Meet the Rebel Advance—Trade Almost Paralyzed—Battleship Iowa Arrives at Panama.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KINGSTON (Jamaica) Sept. 8.—[By Post Indian Cable.] The royal mail steamer Para, from Colon, reports quiet activity in the neighborhood of Panama and Colon. She also reports that fighting has taken place at Bocas del Toro. The government of the latter place failing to repulse the Liberals, the rebels have given notice of their intention to attack Colon within a fortnight. The government is continually moving troops to meet the rebel advances. Trade continues almost paralyzed.

COLOMBIA'S FINANCES BAD.

THE STRENGTHENING REBELS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLON, Sept. 6 (via Kingston, Sept. 8.—[Refused at Colon by the censor and forwarded by steamer to Kingston. By Atlantic Cable.] Colombia's financial straits are extreme, and she is pushed to the last point to obtain funds. The Colombian paper money is now worth less than 3 cents, while gold continues to appreciate. Seventy or 80 per cent. of the people of the country sympathize with the revolution, and are opposed to the present government, largely, it is asserted, on account of the government's exaction of taxes and imposts and other vexatious efforts to raise money. This financial distress, coupled with the extent of the revolution, which momentarily becomes more threatening daily, is being especially the case of the Venezuelan entanglement. It is asserted, constitutes the stronger reason why Colombia cannot go to war with Venezuela with any hope of success.

The future contains no promise of financial betterment and the people become daily more burdened. Forced loans are common and their daily recurrence is expected. In some cases customs receipts have been hypothecated months in advance as security for these loans, and in other cases no security is given. The continuation of such governmental impositions increases the Liberal ranks, and the progression of the present situation will, it is believed, increase the Liberals' chances of succeeding.

The government is holding the army which it is making strenuous efforts to raise, and which, with the official employés, seems strong enough to prosecute the present situation, but unable to deal the revolution a crushing blow. This will strengthen the rebels' position throughout the country, but in the Panama district they notably lack leaders.

The government today owes the 1500 troops on the Isthmus $45,000 in gold, back pay.

It is expected that the return to the Isthmus of Gen. Alban, commander-in-chief of the Colombian forces, will be attended with stringent measures and forced loans in order to raise money to pay these troops.

Reports are in circulation that the Liberals are concentrating at Chorrera on the Pacific Coast, fifteen miles north of Panama. Similar reports have been current for weeks past.

The gunboat Gen. Pinson, with Gen. Alban on board, is still cruising along the coast. Her presence is greatly needed at Bocas del Toro to drive the rebels from their position on Provision Island. Apparently no efforts are being made to use the gunboat effectively. At the same time, Colombian officials talk to the effect that Columbia intends buying other similar craft. The Colombian gunboat Cordoba has been sent to Martinique for repairs.

All the Colombian export and import duties are payable in gold or local paper on a gold valuation. The present departmental and national paper money is without any guarantee whatever.

FIRE AT FOOCHOW BURNS MUCH OF CITY.

RIVER FRONT SECTION AND PART OF OUTSKIRTS LEFT.

Loss of European Merchants Not Less Than a Million and the Total Loss is Difficult to Estimate—Police Cut Off Arms of Looters.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The larger part of Foochow, China, was burned August 18, according to news received today by the steamer Tartar, which arrived from the Orient. The fire broke out at 1 o'clock in the morning, in the center of the foreign business quarter, commencing in a shoemaker's store. The fire spread to the largest rice rooms in the district. A high wind was blowing, and soon the flames encompassed every building and warehouse along the principal business streets. Practically the entire city was destroyed, all left being a portion of the outskirts and the lower section along the river front. The loss of European merchants was not less than a million, and the total loss is difficult to estimate.

There were thousands of Chinese looters among the smoking ruins. So numerous were they that the regular police could not cope with them, and soldiers were called out to quell the disturbances. With fixed bayonets they charged the crowds of natives and cleared the streets. So tenaciously did the looters cling to their goods that nothing short of sword cuts on the fleshy part of their arms would cause them to drop the goods they were carrying.

The scene was terrible. In many instances mismated human arms were found in the gutters after the struggle, and surgeons in the native hospitals were occupied for weeks

Her Sons and Daughters Make a Festival.

Robbers Fire on a Stage—Attempt to Murder an Oregon Family.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 8.—The first day of the Admission Day celebration was all that could be desired from the standpoint of weather, attendance and entertainment. The city was crowded with visitors, all bent on having a good time, and they had it.

They did not wait to be entertained—they amused themselves, and the San José people had the benefit of it all. It is estimated that there were upward of 7000 strangers in the city, of whom about 3000 came on today's trains. Most of the parlors kept open house at their respective headquarters, some giving entertainments and serving refreshments. From 9 o'clock until noon the Native Sons and Pioneers enjoyed a sumptuous bullshead breakfast at Agricultural Park. During the same hours several hundred Native Daughters, with a few Native Sons as chaperons, enjoyed a picnic and luncheon at Alum Rock Park. The other events of the day were the ball game at Cyclers' Park and the band concerts at St. James Park, Schuetzen Park and a session of the Past Presidents' Association at Native Sons' Hall. Tomorrow will come the crowning feature of the festival, the big parade in the morning, the literary exercises, bicycle meet and ball game in the afternoon and ball in the evening.

At the Alum Rock Park, on the return trip there was an incident which caused some excitement and a few bruises. An immense crowd was waiting to board the incoming train, and commenced to do so before it was brought to an entire standstill. The result was that, as the engineer unhooked the engine to turn it around, the cars were put in motion on the down grade, which, fortunately, was not a steep one. However, before the engine could overtake the moving train and recouple it, momentum enough was acquired to throw some of the ladies into a panic; one or two fainted, and several jumped from the cars and fell, receiving more or less bruises, none of which, however, were serious.

The baseball contest in the afternoon between Marshall Parlor of San Francisco and San José Parlor was attended by an immense crowd, and was full of interest. It was anybody's game until the eighth inning, at which time the San Franciscans were one score to the good, when, by bunching hits and an error on the part of their opponent, the San José team took the lead. They were never headed, and won by a score of 8 to 3.

At the meeting of the Past Presidents' Association this evening, the principal business was the initiation of eleven new members. A banquet at the Vendome followed, at which addresses were made by John A. Steinbach, Frank J. Murasky, S. A. D. Jones, William P. Johnson, John I. Mattison, C. T. Laws of San Francisco, C. T. Rose and John Hanson of Alameda, Henry E. Fause, John W. Keenan, William A. King, and others.

Grand President Coombs issued an official statement tonight in which he said the celebration would proceed according to programme tomorrow unless President McKinley's condition became alarming, in which event it would be called off.

DYNAMITE AT BED HEADS.

ATTEMPT TO KILL FAMILY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 8. — A special to the Oregonian from Corvallis, Or., says what is supposed to have been a deliberate attempt to murder an entire family occurred in the Lily hop yard this morning.

Mrs. Wishnofske with her son, aged 19, and daughter, aged 15, was encamped near the drier. Shortly after midnight a terrible explosion aroused the neighborhood, the report being heard miles away. It was caused by dynamite, a stick of which had been fired at the tent near the head of the two beds occupied by the mother and her children. The tent was wrecked, and a big hole torn in the ground by the dynamite, but strange to say, the family escaped with only a temporary shock from the heavy concussion.

Mrs. Wishnofske entertains suspicions as to the identity of the would-be murderer.

STRINGENT REGULATIONS OF THE COMMISSION RESPONSIBLE.

Teachers From the States Are Being Distributed Along the Line of the Railroad and at Large Posts—Seventeenth Infantry to Relieve the Twenty-third.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MANILA, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many resignations have been caused by the action of the Philippine commission in adopting stringent measures requiring insular, provincial and municipal employés, who are brought from the United States to serve at least two years, under nonpayment of salary, and debarring them from again entering insular service. Employés who retire before the completion of two years of service will be required to refund the price of their transportation to the islands, their salaries drawn en route, and the money advanced for their other expenses.

Teachers who arrived here some time ago are being distributed along the line of the railroad, and at large posts.

The Seventeenth Infantry will relieve the Twenty-third at Mindanao and Jolo. The latter regiment will sail shortly for New York.

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPED.

Cleveland in Hands of the Veterans.

Naval Forces Are Also Represented.

Vice-President Roosevelt and Cabinet Members Are to Be Invited.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 8.—Tonight the city is in the hands of the veteran soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic. The land and naval forces have taken possession of the Forest City, and its streets are thronged with members and delegates and visiting strangers.

In the harbor of the city lies the training ship Yantic of the Michigan naval reserves, and the United States gunboat Michigan, also the Gen. Hawk, the training ship of the Cleveland reserves. With this fleet guarding the harbor and the city already well garrisoned with thousands of veteran members, the thirty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic has already begun.

The plans of the Executive Committee will be carried out according to the original programme, with a possible exception Thursday, the day following the grand parade.

The Executive Committee has requested Senator Hanna and Col. Herrick jointly to invite Vice-President Roosevelt and as many of the members of the Cabinet as possible, to visit the encampment Thursday, when it is proposed to hold a mass meeting and grand good-will gathering at Central Armory for the purpose of extending the sympathy of the nation and of the Grand Army to the President.

WOULD HAVE BLOWN SCOUNDREL TO ATOMS.

PRESIDING ELDER NAYLOR IS HIGHLY INDIGNANT.

In His Sermon From the Pulpit in Washington He Declares He Is Almost Converted to an Advocate of Lynch Law.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—"The exigencies of life are such that no man living can count upon the continuance of existence for any length of time. Among these exigencies are disease, accident, and the bullet of the assassin, such as we have heard of in the past forty-eight hours. That occurrence at Buffalo indicates that no man is safe from the shaft of death. It is very difficult to get away from it, and while I have ever been loyal to the law, and have ever contended for its strict enforcement, I must say that the affair of 4 o'clock Friday has almost converted me into an advocate of lynch law. There was no occasion, no reason for that dreadful deed, and whether the work of a sane man or a lunatic, there can be no justification for it."

The above extract from the sermon of Dr. H. R. Naylor, presiding elder of the Washington district, was the only direct reference made in the regular sermon preached today at the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church, which is the church the President attends when in Washington. The sermon was brief, and the service was converted into a gathering of sympathy for the President. Of several prayers offered all were supplications for the early return to health of the President.

When the regular service had been concluded, the congregation, which was large, transformed itself into a mass meeting, and upon motion of Judge T. H. Anderson of the District Court, by a standing vote, directed that the following expression of the sense of the congregation be sent to the President:

"The Board of Methodist Episcopal Church and congregation assembled, extend you and your devoted wife the deepest sympathy, and earnestly pray that God in his great mercy may comfort and sustain you and spare your valued and useful life to the church and nation."

The message was signed by all the members of the official board. The adoption of this resolution was followed by remarks by several of the leading members of the church, all filled with sentiments of the deepest regret for the Buffalo tragedy and highest praise for the President as a man and a member of their congregation. When the meeting finally adjourned, the members of the congregation gathered about the altar, exchanging condolences and regrets. These expressions, however, were not entirely harmonious, for mingled with the general conversation were remarks in depreciation of Naylor's reference to the summary punishment of the President's assailant. It was characterized and condemned by some as open advocacy of lynch law. On the other hand there were many who took occasion to express to Dr. Naylor their complete indorsement of his position.

He did not for a moment seem disposed to change his attitude. He said to those with whom he spoke: "If I had been there I would have blown the scoundrel to atoms if I had had a pistol."

Dr. Croissant saw the finger of God in the tragedy. "God," he said, "has something to do in this matter. Something will be accomplished through the assassin's bullet. If the crime results in the abolition of anarchy on American soil, our beloved President will not have been shot in vain."

This sentiment was greeted with applause, as were several others in the same vein by the speakers.

Dr. Naylor, in addressing the meeting, did not repeat the sentiment which he had expressed in his sermon. He merely remarked in his later address that he was not surprised at the intensity of feeling on the part of the congregation, for it was universal throughout the nation. He declared that Czolgosz had been born without conscience, that he was ready for any bloody thing that might turn up.

"But our mission," he said, "is not for the dead, but with the living. William McKinley is not dead, nor will he die." [Applause.]

One of the leaders of the church in his prayer, asked for mercy for the assassin, but he coupled his petition with the assertion that the assassin was the smallest being that ever had been created, and he expressed the opinion that if he did not find mercy in heaven, he never would secure any of it on earth.

UR PREACHERS ON THE DIRE CALAMITY.

They Show How Recent Violations of Law and Order Led Up to the Awful Climax.

ANY of the clergymen of Los Angeles chose for their theme yesterday the frightful climax of present period of disturbances in country, which came to pass at last Friday—"the blackest day this country ever saw," as Dr. Wilkins put it. Nearly all these preachers treated the subject deftly, regarding the attempted assassination not as one episode, but as culmination of a chain of outrages. In nearly every pulpit in which the awful calamity was discussed, it was considered as the supreme manifestation of that contempt for law and authority which has disordered the disturbing factors of national history in these United States—a history stained with the blood of victims of law-defyers, extended all the way from San Francisco and Los Angeles to the Atlantic coast.

Beneath the Act.

At the First Congregational Church yesterday morning, in the presence of a large congregation, Rev. Warren F. Day, D.D., senior pastor, spoke on the theme which is uppermost in public mind. With Psalm cxi, 1, as his text he spoke in part as follows:

"The stars did not see the deed, nor did the sun. A stately building shut in scenes. But every true man and woman felt the shock. And the Sultan of Constantinople, and far away India, knew what had happened. In an hour news of the assault on President McKinley was the absorbing theme from London to St. Petersburg. The eyes of the civilized world center on Buffalo. The Pan-American Exposition was a chapter in its history which will stand so long as men recall the crimes that have disturbed human affairs. We are startled when we think how short a time since we were watching morning and evening dispatches from San Francisco for the latest tidings from Mrs. McKinley, who was sick almost unto death, with her only husband by her side. Now she is watcher and he the sufferer. We may be exceedingly thankful that Colonel McKinley was not smitten in a city, while on his recent visit to the Coast. I know no reason why he might not have been assassinated while passing through our streets, but such vigilant eyes were on him constantly for his safety.

"Three times within little more than two years the Chief Magistrate of the United States has been shot down by a craven assailant. Marked as successors, three of our twenty-five Presidents are linked in this company—Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley. And God grant that a fourth name may never be added!

"Overcome by mingled pain, mortification and apprehension, the thoughtful ask at what may lie back of the act which has darkened our land. We cannot get far away from it this morning. 'What of the night?' the midnight of President McKinley's life?

"It is not of a national calamity. Had there not been many cool heads, a procession of calamities might have been precipitated. At best it is a costly event in our national life. Men do not wait with bated breath from New York to the Golden Gate listening for the decisive word which shall tell of the President's death or recovery without pause. And not only was murder meant by the assassin, but it was an act of high treason. In the person of the President, our national life and honor were struck a quivering blow.

"This dastardly deed does not stand alone. It was not the explosion of passion of a single breast, but the expression of a cult, doctrine, a hate which a formidable number have been thinking and urging. It matters not whether this particular act was done at the direction of an organization, or was the prompting, it was the outcome of deeds of criminal instigations.

"Nor is this act a new thing, but of old and rank growth. Recently both France and Italy have suffered a similar calamity. We are told that every crowned head in Europe, with our own McKinley, has been marked for death. That our Victoria died a natural death was no thanks to her assailant that time. And there has been much practicing with knife and pistol in the persons of lesser people.

"It may be a slight comfort that what struck down our President is not native in America, nor was born of conditions which exist here. That which has given greatest stimulus to the spirit of anarchy under the Stars and Stripes was brought here at the hands of those who, moving from the despotisms of the Old World to the neighborhood of an American saloon, have not seen the light, hope and opportunity to be found under our beneficent flag. And while the anarchist may speak the language of this land, the loathsome plague is not the language of anarchy. As a rule, the most dangerous anarchist bears a name not commonly pronounced by English-speaking people.

"Great as has been the shock caused by the attempt on the life of our President, the wonder is, not that one representative of the government has been stricken, but that a large number have not been struck. With the hosts of undesirable people who have been swarming to our shores, the development have but come. Here the anarchist has found a free field and without let or hindrance, the most outrageous and clamors for deeds of violence have been unchecked. It is only our habit to pass such things by, as an amusement of an unimportant class of the obscure and ignorant. We are learning that that is no index which fathoms the ignorant and vicious, that incendiary language carries with it the condemnation of such speech is full and free. Freedom of speech must be carefully guarded. The right to criticise publicly any feature of the policy or acts of public officials, is grand in any land which appears to the intelligent and liberty-loving. But while it is to be observed that the overwhelming proportions of those who are most clamorous for the right of free speech are most outrageous in their abuse of right.

"Let us not confuse those who plead for methods of violence for the betterment of all law, with those who are seeking the betterment of society through intelligent and rational methods and the cooperation of the minded and true hearted.

"It is nearly time that men should understand that human welfare is not advanced by methods of lawless force. Neither the bludgeon nor bowie knife is the instrument of progress. The killing of a king, president or proprietor works no change in that system of things which has a place for proprietor, president or king.

"Slay a hundred czars in succession and Russia survives unchanged. As vain is the attempt to suppress crime or to secure better conditions in society through the ferocities of lynch law. Every act of mob violence is a lapse toward barbarism.

"Every one of the recent mobs, whether in the South or North, and whatever the ground of the hate which may have been behind them, helped to make possible the crime committed on last Friday in Buffalo.

"And whoever works corruption in public office, corporation or institution, or overrides law, promotes anarchy.

"There must be a high reign of law or a low reign of lawlessness. Law must be made honorable by honorable administration of law. The farce perpetrated in the trial of the assassin of President Garfield must not be repeated. The criminal must have a fair trial and the benefit of every reasonable doubt. Justice must not be unmerciful. But the criminal must not escape through mere technicalities. The outlaw must be taught that as surely as he ought to be hanged he will be hanged. That pistol shot at Buffalo is a proclamation that church, court, convention, corporation and citizen must stand for righteousness.

"Meanwhile, let us not grow bitter, but more thoughtful and prayerful. Let us face the sunrise. After the assassination of Lincoln, as darkness was settling upon Wall street with its surging crowds, a man stood on the steps where anxious and angry men were pressing together. It was Garfield. When sufficient silence obtained for him to be heard he was heard saying: 'Clouds and darkness are about Him; righteousness and judgment are the habitation of His throne. Fellow-citizens, God lives and the government at Washington survives.'"

A Nation's Grief.

In St. John's Episcopal Church yesterday morning the rector, Rev. W. B. R. Tayler preached on the above subject, taking as his text the first three verses of the forty-sixth Psalm. He said in part:

"It is distinctly strengthening to the individual character, apart from the moral good which we get from it, to read over and over again the strong, rugged utterances of the Old Testament prophets and to imbibe their spirit and their fire and their firm faith in an overruling providence. The sickly sentimentalism of today which we read as literature, the trash which is literally vomited forth out of our multiplied printing presses, the twaddle and wearisome nonsense which we are supposed to absorb in order to be up to date in literary matters have crowded out the strong, majestic, forceful utterances of Holy Writ; that glorious Word of God which assures of us the foundations upon which alone national life can be erected. In times of disaster and calamity we are taught to look to God as our true hope, refuge and salvation. In all serious calamities and national crises, in all times when the avarice and the prejudice of men run riot, when incendiarism and carnage and crime deal out their hateful lusts and fling out the fires of their passion, when we quail and cower before the gathering storm as it blackens up the horizon and rolls upon us its destructive floods—in all such times there is an oasis of rest and refuge, a never-failing source of strength and comfort and promise. 'The Lord of Hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our Refuge.'

"There are times in the national life as well as in the individual life that try men's hearts, when we feel as though we stood upon the brink of some deep precipice and needs must fall into its dark abyss. What a thrill of horror that was which we all felt when our beloved President was shot down in cold blood last Friday afternoon. The stoutest hearts stopped beating, and men and women shed tears—tears which could not be restrained—over one of the most cowardly acts which history will ever record. A whole nation of 70,000,000 people so aghast and awe-stricken that one could hardly find words of utterance. There seemed to be but one thing which we could all do, and that was to pray, and even then we scarcely knew what to pray. We could only fall back upon God. There seemed to be nothing else in the whole wide universe to whom or to which we could turn, but Almighty God. It seemed as if everything else was in solution, was uncertain, was tottering to its fall and collapse, and the human soul, staggered and aghast, could only throw itself into the everlasting arms of God, and cry aloud to Him in this dismal despair: Lord, Thou hast been our Refuge from one generation to another. Probably at no time in our history did the American people so completely throw themselves at the feet of Almighty God. Perhaps the pulpit is no place to speak of vengeance or expiation, even though the blood of martyred men cries aloud for it. But I do wish to say this morning that the nation's sorrow and the nation's grief are things which we must fervently speak to God about, and ask Him to speak to us and calm our fears. The whole question of God's providence, that inscrutable mystery which spares one life while it permits another to ebb away, is something which we shall never fathom here. It is well we cannot.

"I can conceive of nothing which would be more fatal to the blessings of life were we able to read the horoscope of the future, and prognosticate events, and make bare God's providence. No! We must rest content with what God sees fit to reveal, with what He sees fit to accomplish, with what He sees fit to frustrate. But may there not be this lesson in it for us: That as we are busily engaged in the creation of a splendid material prosperity, a prosperity which is not only an envy of the nations, but a menace to ourselves, that we are neglecting the true principles of government, which are justice and equity and religion? Are we wise to look at the bright side of the shield of national life while the dark reverse is rotting and corroding, and we heed it not? Where will be the glory of our national history when we permit men and women to sow the seeds of their noxious teachings unchallenged, unchecked? We have gathered to ourselves the refuse of other lands, and lo! the plague is in our midst. Think you that the cowardly act of last Friday, and the manifestations of sympathy with that act which have been expressed in this city as elsewhere are but symptoms of a condition? No! It is the condition itself. An anarchist with a revolver claims that he is doing a duty (mark the word—a duty.) when he attempts assassination.

"It is of no avail to pour out execrations and vituperation upon the assassin; that will not alter the condition of the murderer or his victim. We must go deeper than that.

"We must stamp out those conditions which breed anarchy as mercilessly as we stamp out the conditions which create the plague, the smallpox and the yellow-fever.

"We are such an easy-going people, so wrapped up in our own personal concerns, that we allow anarchists to spread their pestilent and baneful doctrines broadcast, to educate their children in the principles of bloodshed and riot, to flaunt their red flag under the very shadows of the Stars and Stripes, and even to use the government mail service in sending out their publications. What can we expect, but that this sort of thing will harvest its crop sooner or later? If our beloved President dies through this cowardly act of a self-avowed anarchist, will the assassin's life, or a thousand such lives as his, expiate the deed? No! The duty now rests upon the government to take such repressive measures as will teach these thugs and assassins that they cannot be allowed to violate with impunity the principles of that freedom which our Constitution allows. The duty rests upon the press and the public to assist in purifying our nation of these plague-spots, and not to encourage them in their lawlessness as the yellow journals are doing today.

"And the duty rests upon the pulpit to preach and to teach and to admonish and exhort men to righteousness and peace and brotherly love. Anarchy is organized lawlessness, and there is plenty of organized lawlessness which manifests itself in other ways besides assassinating a President or a ruler.

"Lack of proper respect for the law and constituted authority is one of the curses of our country and we see it permeating every fiber of society. Lawlessness is not the stock-in-trade of the anarchist only. Anarchism is only the worst and fiercest manifestation of it.

"And so we come back to the first principle that it is in God's laws and God's righteousness alone that we find our refuge and national salvation. Our only Rock of Defense is in the Most High God.

"It is before Him that we kneel in anxious supplication today in behalf of one stricken down in the very zenith of his usefulness and power.. A grief-stricken nation prostrates itself at the feete of God that He might spare the life of the ruler of our country. And not only for him we pray, but for the nation itself. We pray that President McKinley's life may be spared to his country and his family, and we pray that God may guide aright the ship of state, take us more and more under His almighty protection, make us more and more a God-fearing people, so that we may leave forever the idols of our vanities, the selfishness of our own temporal concerns and serve the living God."

A McKinley Trait.

During his sermon yesterday, Rev. A. Webb of the First Presbyterian Church related a personal incident which illustrates the kindly and sympathetic spirit that has, more than anything else, made President McKinley so beloved among the people. During the Chicago World's Fair, when President McKinley was Governor of Ohio, Mr. Webb, then a poor student, was very anxious to find a way to see the exposition, and summoned up nerve to appeal to Gov. McKinley for a position there. Though the statesman was attending to urgent business when the poor boy sent in his card, he gave him an audience and secured for him what he asked. Weeks afterward, when on an official visit to the exposition, the busy Governor, not forgetting the boy's name, hunted him up and had a pleasant talk with him.

An Eleven Years' Pastorate.

Rev. A. C. Smither entered upon his twelfth year as pastor of the First Christian Church yesterday morning. Within that period this congregation has made very rapid strides, growing from a small and uninfluential church to one of the largest in the city, and from an insignificant building on Temple street to the present commanding edifice at the corner of Hope and Eleventh streets. Mr. Smither now can claim the longest pastorate in Los Angeles. His last year's work has been his most successful one of all. Yesterday morning he preached from the saying of Paul, "I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." "This verse," said the speaker, "will form the keynote of my preaching for this year's pastorate. It contains several points worthy of elucidation.

"First—This gospel means the good news from heaven for mankind. Heaven's interest in the race finds its expression in the scheme of human redemption as propounded by the Son of God. No gladder news was ever heard by human ears than this message of divine mercy.

"Second—This gospel was of God, was of divine origin. It was planned by divine love, and executed by divine wisdom, and was for divine glory. In this it was differentiated from all subsequent forms of religious teaching.

"Third—This gospel was the expression of God's power as operating in the spiritual world. It was a message from God to man's spiritual nature, developing within him the divine nature, lifting into the divine likeness, fitting him for heavenly service here and for an eternal inheritance hereafter.

"Fourth—This gospel was for the salvation of man. Sin has always done its deadly work, separating between man and his God. To provide a means for his reconciliation to God was the ultimate purpose for which Jesus come into the world. This salvation is a present, everyday change wrought upon the conduct and character of men. No man can be genuinely reached by the gospel without experiencing a great change in his life. Besides the present-day reformation wrought by it man is fitted through and by means of it for his inheritance in the realms of light.

"Fifth—This gospel is offered to every one that believes its great facts, obeys its great commands, and comes into possession of its great promises. Its offer is as wide as the race, and reaches wherever the cry of need is heard. Surely, no man need ever apologize for so great a power in the world."

"Places of Blessing."

Pastor Joseph Smale preached in the First Baptist Church yesterday morning from the text, "He blessed him there." He said in part: "There are many notable places on this earth, and when the world reckons them up, they are comprehended in those of natural and historic interest, but there are people with memories of other places which eclipse in interest most, if not all, of those in nature and history. They are the people who know God, and to whom God has remarkably revealed himself here and there in their years, and here and there on this earth. This was especially true of Jacob. Our text speaks of a grace that came to him in one particular place. This place is recorded. Jacob called the name of it Peniel, for said he, 'I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.' Yes, God blessed him there. The fact that he recorded the place is instructive. It was the habit of the patriarchs to raise an altar when God blessed them, or to give a name to the place. God was well pleased with this habit, for there were times when He showed His pleasure for this, and commanded memorials of that generation of His people. He whom God blessed is blessed indeed, and that soul ought to keep a record of the divine goodness, if not in one way, then in another. The act is God-glorifying, and faith-strengthening. It proves especially so in the life of the psalmist, who, one day finding himself in sorrow as if a God-forsaken man, suddenly bethought himself to unlock the treasury of memory, and when he did so, he discovered to his joy that God had blessed him in many places. Said he of his wailing: 'This is my infirmity; but I will remember the years of the right hand of the Most High. I will make mention of the deeds of the Lord; for I will remember thy wonders of old. I will meditate also upon all thy work, and muse on thy doings. Thy way, O God, is in the sanctuary; who is a great god like unto God. Thou art the God that doest wonders; thou hast made known thy strength among the peoples. Thou hast with thine arm redeemed thy people.'

"God would have me remind you this morning of the place where He hath blessed human souls. He blesses in places where unbelief is likely to reign. He would have you note this and receive the truth with assurance. There are moments when the soul is harassed, and weary and weak, and the language of its sighs is found in the question of the man in the scripture, 'Who will show me any good?' Remember that the Lord will. He will lift upon thee the light of His countenance. With His strength shall He gird thee, so thou shalt walk in the glory of His presence, and life shall be sweet.

"Of all the places where God blesses the greatest is at the cross. I echo the experience of some here when I say that the cross is where you first saw the light, and the burden of your heart rolled away. There God blesses you with forgiveness, blesses you with with shed blood to make you clean, blesses you with repentance, blesses you with favor, blesses you with life, and blesses you with the Holy Spirit. He there made old things to pass away, and all things to become new. There He called you His child, and there you began to say, 'My Father.' Yes, He blesses you there. Wonderful place and wonderful blessing. And he is waiting to bless the sinner there this morning, for He saith, 'Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him, and to our God for He will abundantly pardon."

The Only Way to Heaven.

Rev. Philip James Ward preached yesterday at the Central Baptist Church, corner of Flower and Pico streets, from John xiv, 6: "Jesus saith unto him 'I am the way.'"

Mr. Ward said: "No other than the Lord Jesus Christ could ever have spoken thus without deserving the charge of boundless presumption. Others, indeed, may point out the road to heaven and say that is the way, but Jesus alone could refer to Himself and say 'I am the way.' We are all lost travelers on the road to eternity, and only as the Lord Jesus finds us and as we take His proffered hand as that of our guide can we ever hope to reach the gloryland. All men before conversion act foolishly as a person walking rapidly without any destination in mind. When God's Holy Spirit stops such a one and asks, 'Whither goest thou?' then the man realizes the terrible folly of going swiftly through life without any destination in mind for his immortal soul, and if made wise by God's Spirit he will seek Christ both as the guide and the way to eternal life. We can only cross life's desert safely as Christ, the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night, shows the way to the heavenly Canaan. We can only navigate life's trackless sea safely when Christ becomes our pilot. Lost in life's dangerous forest we cry to heaven for help, and only as the voice of Jesus answers, 'I am the way,' can we ever find the path to our heavenly home. By the way of perfect obedience to God's law of none can reach heaven, one might easier fly to the sun with the wings of a butterfly. By the way of good works there is no hope for salvation. In God's plan, good works are to be the result of salvation and not the way to salvation. We cannot make a way of salvation of our own by sowing flowers of gentle deeds and planting bulbs of beautiful acts of charity and turfing life's road with the grass of morality; we might sooner reach the antipodes by digging through the solid earth. Christ is the way; God's way, and the only way to eternal salvation and to a blessed immortality."

The Lord Healeth.

At St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral the dean, Rev. J. J. Wilkins, D.D., preached on the attempted assassination of the President, from the text found in Exodus, xv, 26, "I am the Lord that healeth thee," the episode being the sweetening of the waters of Marah. The preacher's fundamental theme was that suffering is not an intrusion into the general order of things, but a part of the great divine plan. Sorrow is as necessary as joy. We must trust in God and in the working out of His designs, being sure that there will be a healing for the pain. "Let us hope that the healing for this great woe will be the recovery of the President," said the preacher. Dr. Wilkins gave a touching expression of the general love and admiration for the President, and the widespread grief of the people, that brought tears to the eyes of a large congregation. He said he was so shocked and stupefied by the calamity that he could not summon his ideas to the task before him. He declared, however, that the tragedy is a summons to greater Christian activity in grappling with anarchy, defiance of law and other public disorders, that we may not of our passions forge fetters that bind us. He appealed to indifferent Christians to awake to the importance of the national crisis.

St. Vincent's.

An especially large audience attended the solemn mass in St. Vincent's Church yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock in honor of the opening of St. Mary's Academy and St. Vincent's College. Three hundred and fifty students from the two institutions were present at the impressive services. Bishop Montgomery preached a strong sermon on "Christian Education," and also dealt with the present national calamity in a sympathetic and direct manner. An elaborate musical programme was rendered by the choir, and also by a quartette consisting of Miss Knickerbocker, Mr. Laenhart, Mrs. Chapman and Mr. Taylor. An offertory solo was beautifully sung by Miss Knickerbocker. In the evening a special vesper service drew another large audience.

Semi-Barbarious.

Dr. Ravlin spoke yesterday at the Spiritualists' camp meeting at Sycamore Grove, on "The Antidote Toward the Semi-Barbarians of the Age," the remedy for which he said is "the development of man's spiritual nature." This lecture was supplementary to that of a week previous, in which he pictured the cruelties and inhumanities existing under our present Christian civilization. Our system of education, he declared, is all wrong, and much more conducive to the development of the purely physical and animal, than that of the finer and higher faculties of our nature. The "healing of the nations" must come from a higher development of the spiritual. The church had perceived this, and sought to apply a remedy, but had made a failure. Love does not reign, but in place of it we have the lust of power and the lust of greed. Prize fights, dog fights, etc., take up too much of public life.

QUARRELED WITH HER MALE COMPANION.

UNFORTUNATE WOMAN'S SECOND ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.

Demented by Drink and Despondency Ida Hastings Shoots Herself, But Not Fatally—Once She Drank Poison Without Mortal Result.

Ida Hastings, 26 years old, an inmate of a disreputable house at No. 412 North Alameda street, made an ineffectual attempt to commit suicide by shooting herself in the head early yesterday morning. She is now lying ill, though not in a critical condition, in the California Hospital. Despondency caused by ill-health and trouble she had with a particular male friend, caused her to fire the bullet which nearly ended her life.

The woman shot herself about 2 o'clock in the morning, while on Alameda street, in front of the house where she has been living. Then she threw the revolver to the ground and shrieked: "I have shot myself." A young man heard the cry and ran to her. He assisted her to the house, and Dr. Pierce was summoned. He put a temporary bandage on her head and then escorted her to the Receiving Hospital, where the bullet was removed, and the wound dressed.

The bullet, a 32-caliber, entered the woman's scalp just back of the right ear, ranged upward, and lodged between the flesh and the skull on top of her head, a little to the right of the center. The ball had been flattened when it struck the bone. It was easily removed after the patient had been put under the influence of chloroform.

As soon as the attempt at suicide was learned at the Police Station a detective was detailed to investigate it. He visited the house and made some inquiry, but learned nothing, except that Ida Hastings shot herself while on Alameda street.

At the Receiving Hospital yesterday the woman said she was intoxicated when she fired the revolver, and did not know what she was doing. It is, however, asserted by persons who know her, that she has been brooding over the fact that she had a recent quarrel with a man, who had been consorting with her.

Late yesterday afternoon friends of the would-be suicide had her removed to the California Hospital.

Ida Hastings is well known among the people who frequent North Alameda street and such houses as that in which she lived. She formerly occupied one of the Alameda-street cribs, and later was in charge of a house of ill-fame on New High street. While there she became despondent and attempted to end her life by drinking poison. She was resuscitated at the Receiving Hospital on that occasion.

She is sometimes called Ida Jeffries, from the fact that she was at one time an ardent friend of Jim Jeffries, the champion pugilist.

SPOOK DEBATE AT SAN DIEGO.

SECOND CHAPTER IN FARCICAL DISCUSSION.

Little Interest Taken in the One-sided Affair—Ministers Holding Aloof—Socialists Denounce Anarchy's Foul Crime—Young Kyle Disappointed.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The second chapter of the spook debate was rendered this evening at the Fisher Opera-house, but with a marked decline in the attendance. The theological atmosphere has cooled down decidedly, and there was little interest taken in the fake discussion. "Rev." S. J. Neill held up his side of the dispute with the same fervor as of yore, but as before had the edge taken off of his syllogisms by his brethren from Point Loma. The ministry of the city are ignoring the whole business, which was instituted with the idea of heaping coals of fire on their heads. As yet the Point Loma brethren have failed to answer their initiation that when the proper kind of a challenge is sent out they will accept it with thanks. In each communication emanating from Mme. Tingley is contained a slur on the failure of the ministers to debate. In the absence of Rev. Clarence True Wilson, she has it all her own way.

SOCIALISTS MISUNDERSTOOD.

James T. Van Rensselaer of Los Angeles spoke to the Socialists last evening at Lafayette Hall. There was considerable talk among the rougher element on the street about cleaning out the meeting, as in the excitement caused by the assassination of the President, many people confounded socialism with anarchy, and took this peaceful gathering of citizens to be a menace to the nation. The police guarded the hall during the progress of the address. The following resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, a great and appalling crime has been committed in the murderous assault on the life of President McKinley, and, whereas, the members of the San Diego Socialist party, in common with all Socialists throughout the world, view with abhorrence this, and all deeds of violence,

"Be it resolved that, though opposed to the present industrial system, and seeking to substitute a more just and rational economic basis for society, we unreservedly condemn not only this insane and inhuman act, but also an order of society which engenders such crimes; and be it further

"Resolved, that we tender our heartfelt sympathy to the suffering President and Mrs. McKinley in this, their great calamity and grief."

EXPECTS TO DO BETTER.

Young Kyle is disappointed in the results of the championship races yesterday, when Brewer won so easily, but thinks that he has better powers of endurance than the champion in being able to swim swiftly in several different positions, so that he can keep up speed while practically resting. Brewer, it is said, can swim in but one position and may be outdistanced in a mile course on this account. He is of magnificent physique, while Kyle is very slim and delicate. There is at present some very bitter feelings between the contestants over the selection of the courses. Tomorrow morning the three-quarters-of-a-mile event will be pulled off, and on Tuesday morning the real contest will ensue, when the mile stake is tried for.

FOLLOWING TRAIL OF LONG BEACH ROBBERY.

MRS. WONDERS SAYS PACKAGE CONTAINED CLOTHING.

Officers Procure From the Kempley House a Vial, the Contents of Which May Have Some Connection With Mrs. Kempley's Illness.

Facts gathered yesterday throw a few gleams of light on the mysterious $29,000 transaction at the house of John Kempley in Long Beach last Thursday.

City Marshal Baker and Deputy Constable A. L. Stevens called at the Kempley house late Saturday evening and procured a small vial of medicine which is said to have been in the house for about three weeks. The vial bore a label of Wingard's pharmacy and was about half filled with a dark brown liquid. On the label was written: "Fl. Ex. Ipecac." The officers are keeping the vial and its contents in their possession.

When a Times representative called at the Kempley house yesterday morning Mrs. Kempley and her daughter, Mrs. Wonders, refused to say anything about it other than to admit that the officers had been there.

At the time of the robbery it was said that Mrs. Kempley was ill and that on account of her illness she was obliged to temporarily leave the house. The disappearance of the $29,000 was said to have been within the interval of her absence. It is thought that the officers believe the contents of the vial may have some connection with Mrs. Kempley's illness.

Investigations made at Long Beach yesterday tend to show that the contents of the package which Dr. Woodworth carried when he was driven from the Kempley house to the depot were not money but were simply some articles of clothing.

Mrs. Wonders was asked about the report that she had been doing some sewing for Dr. Woodsworth. She said that she had. She said that after Dr. Woodworth had paid the $29,000 she handed to him a package containing an article of underwear which she had made from cloth furnished by him and also another article of underwear which she had mended.

On several occasions while he was living in Long Beach within the past few weeks Dr. Woodworth called at a local drug store and called for certain drugs which he asked to have sold to him at physicians' rates. On account of the impediment in his speech he failed to make himself clearly understood and was on at least one occasion requested to write a prescription for what he desired. It was observed that the prescription he wrote was not made out in the style customary with physicians.

He borrowed medical books from a local physician and also attempted to borrow some pharmaceutical books from a local drug store. He was allowed to read the books at the place, but was not permitted to take them away from the store.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

How Did She Know?

An event in the gay world, which would undoubtedly have produced a sensation and been a great spectacular success, has been abandoned and lost to an appreciative audience all on account of a contretemps for which an Adams'-street girl says the dog was to blame.

It seems some of the young people have been arranging some tableaux vivants. Among other living-picture scenes at the crucial moment from those charming childhood legends "Sleeping Beauty" and "Beauty and the Beast" were to be given.

Now Los Angeles is long on beauties but short on princes charming, so the tardy lover, whose salute awoke the sleeping maiden and the prince disguised as a beast, were both to be impersonated by a good looking society man whose nether extremities accommodated themselves gracefully to pink silk tights.

There was a private rehearsal the other evening of these two tableaux at the home of the beauty who was consort to the beast. It was in no sense a full dress rehearsal but Prince Charming donned a coat and headpiece of fur to see if they were going to be sufficiently beastly and realistic.

The two girls pronounced them immense; after which the prince went to the dressing room to transform himself into the electrifier of sleeping beauty while the consort, who was the hostess, absented herself to order up the chafing dish.

Left alone in the gloaming of the library the beauty who was to slumber arranged herself effectively in readiness for rehearsal, which by the way, had never been put to a finish. The prince was always ready but the beauty was shy; she coyly agreed that at the final performance—of course, if it would make it seem more real—why—Fritz—might—just once; but at rehearsal never!

Now as she posed, eyes closed wondering if Fritz really would—she heard stealthy footsteps approaching. She didn't scream; with great presence of mind she kept her eyes tight shut; she felt a hot breath on her face; then a could muzzle on her cheek and something like a rough moist tongue touched her smiling lips.

"Oh, you horrid beast" she shrieked, starting, eyes wide open, just in time to catch a glimpse of a shaggy, vanishing form.

"What is the matter?" cried the hostess reappearing.

But the beauty wouldn't tell; she said she was going straight home; finally, as she was jabbing in her hat pins, she explained.

"Why," said her hostess, "I don't believe it was Fritz; it must have been Fido, our St. Bernard."

"I'd simply die if I have to be kissed by a man who kisses like that," stormed the offended beauty.

"But" urged her hostess anxiously, "Fritz doesn't kiss like that!"

"He doesn't? Well—Miss, I'd like to know how you know!"

And the Adams'-street girl says that settled it and the whole show is off.

THE BURGLAR.

Wife, at 2 a.m.: Wake up, Henry! There's a burglar down cellar.

Henry, sleepily: Let him burgle.

Wife, in alarm: But he's in the potato bin, and I——"

THE PRESIDENT'S CONDITION.

Reports from the bedside of the stricken President, yesterday, were so favorable a character that the great heart of the nation was cheered as it has not been cheered since the Chief Magistrate was laid low by an assassin's hand. The unanimous statement was given out by the physicians in attendance that the condition of the patient was entirely satisfactory under the circumstances, and that no unfavorable symptoms had developed. The eminent surgeon, Dr. McBurney, after a thorough examination of the patient, fully concurred in the conclusions of the others.

Exaggerations have been thrown out that the physicians have colored the bulletins which they have issued, making them more optimistic than the case warrants. This is emphatically denied by Vice-President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna, who declare that the physicians have erred, if at all, on the side of pessimism; or, in other words, that the President's condition is even more favorable than the bulletins would seem to indicate. This is indeed welcome information, and in some degree furnishes a reason for the universal hope that the President will recover.

Now, although the conditions are not wholly favorable at this writing, and although the patient is by no means out of danger. Unforeseen complications may arise which may result in a crisis. While all will pray and hope most fervently for the recovery of our beloved President, we should not lose sight of the seriousness of his condition nor the dangers that may lie in the immediate future. The best we can do is to hope for the best, while holding ourselves, as well as possible, in a condition of readiness for the worst, should the worst come.

One thing may be set down as a certainty, and this is that the official bulletins issued from time to time by the President's physicians, or over their authority, furnish the most reliable information that comes from his bedside. Sensational reports that come from other sources, whether favorable or unfavorable, should be accepted with mental reservations, if at all. So long as the official bulletins continue to show favorable conditions there is ground for hopefulness.

MINING COALS TO NEWCASTLE.

The United States manufacturers have been obtaining big contracts for machinery of various kinds, in all parts of the world, to the mingled surprise and disgust of our slow-going British cousins, who have hitherto enjoyed a trade like a monopoly in this line. Recently, an American firm astonished the mechanical world by securing a contract for a big railroad bridge in Burmah—said to be the largest thing of the kind ever contracted for—at a lower price, and for delivery in far less time, than was possible by any British competitor. The latter was almost too much for the Britishers, as Burmah is a British possession, and the question was brought up in Parliament, where the representatives of the government were forced to admit that British firms were often entirely unable to compete successfully with the American manufacturers. The bridge was completed in good time, and the work is entirely satisfactory.

Another view of this, and of other similar successful victories that have been won by our American captains of industry in the world's commercial arena, it is somewhat surprising to learn from a dispatch from Switzerland to a London paper, that electrical engineers of Zurich have obtained a contract to supply all the machinery for the new electrical installation at Niagara Falls, which will consist of 10 huge turbines of 55,000 horse power each. It is stated that Mexico has also placed an order for an electric plant of 100,000 horse power with the same firm.

It is certainly surprising that a British firm should be successful in securing a contract for an important undertaking of this kind, in a line of industry in which the United States is considered supreme, as witness the recent contract given to Americans for electrizing of the undercurrent railway in London. Especially is this surprising when the work is to be done by the very headquarters of American electrical enterprise, at Buffalo, and the most wonderful electrical power ever seen in the world has been developed during the past summer. If we are to be beaten at our own game, we could not desire any more welcome antagonist than the plucky and enterprising little European republic, which fought for and won the right to a government "of the people, by the people and for the people," a century before Columbus discovered America. We would, however, just for curiosity, like to know how it is that a Swiss firm succeeded in securing this important contract. Possibly the steel strike may have had something to do with it.

On the other hand, as something of a set-off to this Swiss victory, an Associated Press dispatch from London announces that American coal has ousted British coal from the Swiss market, and that the American syndicate is confident of eventually obtaining a monopoly of the entire Swiss coal market. When we consider that it is nearly two hundred miles from the nearest point of Switzerland to a seaport, this new development of American trade is certainly remarkable, and reminds one of the traditional "sending coals to Newcastle." The new century is certainly bringing about some strange changes in the commercial world.

THE LAND OF SURPRISES.

One of the greatest of the many surprises that have come to the United States, in its acquisition of the vast and variegated territory over which now float the Stars and Stripes, is furnished by Alaska, that great extent of wild territory which we took over from Russia in return for $7,000,000, not so much because there was any idea, outside of a few experts, that the territory of Alaska was worth that sum, but chiefly as a token of our regard to the country of the great White Czar for the friendship that had been displayed to us by Russia during the trying time of the Civil War. If there was any benevolence about this act, it has certainly been repaid to us, many times over. The bread which we then cast upon the waters has returned to us a hundredfold, and not after so very many days, either.

The main value of Alaska, at the time when it was acquired by the United States, lay in the valuable fur-bearing seals which are found in large, though constantly decreasing, numbers on the islands off the Alaskan coast. Since the purchase of the territory, the value of the fur seals harvested on these islands has been several times greater than the price paid for the island. Then came the salmon fisheries, which have brought in a large revenue every year, and have given employment to a small army of men. The salmon catch this year is said to be greater than was ever before known. Alaska salmon, in cans, may be found in the stores of any considerable city of the world.

Then came the discovery of gold, and the remarkable rush to those northern regions. The gold output of Alaska already represents many times over the price that we paid to Russia, and the industry is still in its infancy. There is one gold mine up there, the Treadwell, which could not be purchased today for a much larger sum than we have paid to Russia for Alaska.

Last, but not least, we come to the greatest surprise of all, the possibilities of agriculture in this distant northern land. Just as California and Colorado and Arizona were, in early days, considered to be of value only for mining, but were afterward found to be admirably adapted to the raising of valuable agricultural and horticultural crops, so it promises to be in Alaska, where, even as short a time as ten years ago, the suggestion of agriculture would have been received by 99 per cent. of the American people as a good joke, and worthy of the columns of Puck. Now, however, according to a special dispatch from Tacoma, published in The Times recently, the various transportation companies operating between Pacific Coast ports and Alaska are preparing to inaugurate a far-reaching movement, having for its object the settlement of the valleys of Southern Alaska with tens of thousands of hardy immigrants from Norway, Sweden and other Northern European countries. It is said that recent experiments, together with government reports, show that all hardy grains thrive in Alaska, and that potatoes and other vegetables can be matured south of the Yukon River. Weather statistics have been obtained, showing that the country is more favorable for settlers than Manitoba and Northern Dakota. Another favorable feature is the fact that the coast of Alaska abounds in salmon fisheries, similar to those of the Norway coast.

Acting on this knowledge, companies are planning to send photographers and agricultural experts into the Yukon, Copper and Tanana valleys. Information and views obtained by them will be placed in the hands of agents sent to Europe to work up immigration. The latter part of the project will not be attempted until Congress so amends the Alaska land laws that settlers can secure speedy titles to their homesteads. Congress will be asked to do this next winter, and to make an appropriation for the commencement of surveys of Alaska agricultural lands.

Surely, Alaska is entitled to be known as the Land of Surprises. It is quite possible that there may still be greater surprises there for the American people than have yet been disclosed.

COARSE AND BRUTAL.

Senator George L. Wellington of Maryland, upon being asked by a newspaper reporter for some expression upon the dastardly attempt to murder the President, gave utterance to the following unspeakably coarse and brutal sentiments:

"McKinley and I are enemies. I have nothing good to say about him, and under the circumstances do not care to say anything bad. I am indifferent to the whole matter."

Upon being questioned, later, as to the correctness of the reported interview, Mr. Wellington flatly refused either to affirm or deny its authenticity. His refusal is open to but one interpretation, and that is that he gave utterance to the sentiments attributed to him.

This brutal expression by the Maryland Senator makes him odious in the sight of all right-thinking men. The man who could deliberately give utterance to such sentiments is unfit for the position of United States Senator, or for any position of honor or responsibility. He is fitter for association with such vermin as the wretched assassin who sought the life of the President, than for association with respectable and patriotic Americans.

It may be, as Mr. Wellington says, that there is enmity between him and the President; but if so, we may rest assured that it is all on Wellington's side, and that it is without just cause, for the President is not a man to wrong any person. But even if Mr. Wellington cherishes a feeling of resentment toward the Chief Executive, he should have the decency to curb his brutal tongue at such a time as this, when the nation is in the depths of profound grief and anxiety because their beloved President is hovering between life and death. He should respect the grief of more than seventy millions of his fellow-countrymen, even if he is so lost to decent self-respect as to carry his petty and impotent resentment to the verge of the grave. Senator Wellington's boorish and brutal outgiving is the only discord in the universal note of sorrow and regret. He has proved himself to be an ass, with ears of immeasurable dimensions.

THREE PRESIDENTS.

AND ALL FROM THE ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

In an article contributed to The Times on Sunday last by "T. J. C.," of the Soldiers' Home, headed "Gen. King Corrected—He Claimed Too Much for the Army of the Cumberland," "T. J. C." says:

"In the Sunday issue of The Times of the 18th inst., under the head of 'Army and Navy,' occurs the following paragraph:

"'Gen. Charles King said in a recent interview: "Three generals of the Army of the Cumberland in the War of the Rebellion have been Presidents; except Gen. Miles, every commanding general of the United States army since the war served in the Army of the Cumberland; seventeen members of that body have served in Presidential Cabinets, thirty-eight have been Senators, and 300 have been Congressmen."'

"The Presidents who were generals in the War of the Rebellion were Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison. Garfield and Harrison were generals in the Army of the Cumberland, and either Grant or Hayes must be included to make up the three generals. Hayes was a general in the Army of West Virginia, and never served in any of the armies of the Southwest. Grant was emphatically a general of the Army of the Tennessee. He won his stars in hard and continuous fighting, from Belmont to the fall of Vicksburg, via Donelson and Shiloh, at the head of this army, and was in no proper sense a general of the Army of the Cumberland, never having fought in any of its battles, nor served in any of its campaigns."

Undoubtedly Gen. King included Gen. Grant as having served in the Army of the Cumberland, and the statement is not far fetched; for when Gen. Grant commanded all the forces at Missionary Ridge, a part of which was the Army of the Cumberland, he was an officer of the Army of the Cumberland, surely.

But if he were not, I will assist Gen. King in the preservation of his statistics and satisfy that other very entertaining scribe (T. J. C.) by informing him that, including neither Gens. Grant nor Hayes, there were three generals of the Army of the Cumberland who became Presidents, Gens. Johnson, Garfield and Harrison.

To be sure, there are few who are aware of the fact that Andrew Johnson was a general of the Army of the Cumberland. But such is the fact. When he was appointed Military Governor of Tennessee in March, 1862, he was also appointed, confirmed and commissioned a brigadier-general of volunteers, and drew his pay as such until he resigned from the army three years afterward, to enter upon his duties as Vice-President.

AWKWARD POSITION BEFORE A COUNTY.

HOW COCHISE MAY BE PLACED DEEP IN THE HOLE.

Copper Queen Mining Company and Others Sue to Restrain Collection of Taxes, and There Seems to Be No Revenue in Sight.

TOMBSTONE, (Ariz.) Sept. 6.—[Regular Correspondence.] Cochise county, of which Tombstone is the county seat, has confronting her a remarkable and serious condition of affairs. Through a suit just filed in the District Court, apparently she has been placed in the awkward position of having to pay the Territory for the next few years thousands of dollars per annum more than the revenues that will accrue through the collection of taxes—and, possibly, with no recourse.

The suit, filed by the Copper Queen Mining Company of Bisbee, seeks an injunction against the Supervisors, restraining them from collecting taxes on the property of the corporation at the valuation set by the assessor, something over four millions of dollars. Other companies, assessed at about $1,500,000, have joined with the Copper Queen in the suit. This leaves only about $2,500,000 of assessed property from which to collect the revenue of the county till such time as the mining companies have succeeded in exhausting the ingenuity of their lawyers and have run through all the courts of the land or have succeeded in winning their case through its merits or through the finding of a not unlikely flaw in the method of assessment. On the two and a half millions the county treasurer will receive about $80,000 in tax payments. The first charge upon the income is the payment of the rate fixed for territorial purposes, namely, $1.17 on each $100 of valuation. This will call for $87,000 alone, $7000 more than the treasury will contain, and will leave not a cent for the administration of justice, for the salaries of officials, for the schools, or the roads.

The Copper Queen is contesting the assessment on the ground that it is exhorbitant and unjust. Its attorneys point out that the assessment is greater than the valuation put upon all the other mines of the Territory, inclusive of the great United Verde at Jerome, the Clifton, Morenci and Globe copper mines, and the great gold mines at Congress and Fortune. The question of actual valuation seems to be little considered, for the Copper Queen is popularly supposed to pay 5 per cent. net on an investment of at least sixty millions.

The company's officers have made a proffer of taxes on a valuation of $500,000, which is $100,000 more than the assessment of last year, but the offer was, of course, refused by the tax collector.

STOCKS VERY QUIET.

Weekly Report From the London Market—Considerable Inquiry Made For the West Australian Securities.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] During the past week stocks were very quiet, and quotations were uninteresting. Home railway securities were quiet at fractional improvements, and American railways were irregular and charges were mostly adverse. The dealings in foreign securities were few and small, but mines, on the contrary, showed some animation.

West Australians improved decidedly on the elimination of the Whitaker right interest. There was considerable continental inquiry in this department. Judging from the August returns of West Australian gold exports, a renewal of confidence is justified. More favorable South African war news also helped Rands, while De Beers have risen 1 1-16 on continental buying. American inquiries and confidence that the coronation ceremonies of King Edward will increase the demand for diamonds. The talk of a 10 per cent. diamond war tax is apparently without foundation, but there is some apprehension locally, owing to a report that Americans are preparing to corner the coronation supply.

The whole country is in a most dreadful state. Many farmers have planted other crops in the rice fields, and these are fast dying for want of rain."

The Kobe Herald of August 12 says: "An earthquake of a more serious character than has been experienced in Japan for some years occurred in Aomori Ken Saturday. Railways were badly damaged. There were considerable subsidences between the towns of Shiriuchi and Numasaki."

SARATOGA (N. Y.) Sept. 8.—Herman O. Armour of Kansas City died suddenly of apoplexy today at his summer cottage here.

Mr. Armour, who had been in comparatively frail health for some time, was able to ride out once or twice a day, and appeared to be gaining strength.

This forenoon, accompanied by a coachman, he took his regular drive, and on his return stated that he felt much refreshed. Shortly afterward, while seated on the porch of his cottage, with friends, he suddenly ceased talking, and immediately expired.

CIRCUS PERFORMANCE AT POLICE STATION.

COLORED DOPE FIEND GIVES AN ACROBATIC EXHIBITION.

Cops Thought He Was Crazy, But He Just Wanted to Act—Willie Childs Again in Trouble—Sullivan Under the Influence of Spooks.

There was a circus performance at the Police Station last evening. The show was given by a single acrobatic bod carrier, dope fiend and prisoner, while the spectators were a few policemen who happened to be in the station at the time and two or three citizens. Charley Burns was the performer. He is a colored resident of Pasadena. Early last evening he gathered a crowd around him on Pasadena avenue near the East Side engine-house, and with a chair in the middle of the street, was about to perform, when he was arrested on suspicion of being insane. When taken to the Police Station he said: "I wasn' a doin' nothin'. I'm a bod carrier and I works every day. I don' wan' stay here. Le'me go home." Then he said he was addicted to the use of "stuff," meaning drugs. He uses both morphine and cocaine.

Burns explained that he was a professional acrobat and does not have to carry the hod for a living. He was asked to demonstrate this fact to the crowd when he was arrested. When he repeated the statement at the Police Station, the clerk declared he was from Missouri, so the hod carrier offered to prove his assertion by giving an exhibition.

Burns removed his coat, vest and hat and started in with the "double twist," which consisted of standing on his head and spinning twice around. "That was only a little one," he said, as his audience applauded. "Wait till you see me up others. I haven't got a start yet."

Then Burns did the split, turned a few handsprings and performed a few other tricks, after which he gave an exhibition of high kicking with both feet.

"If I had a table here I would give you my stem-winder," he asserted. "I guess that will do for tonight. We will have another performance tomorrow," replied the clerk, and Burns was escorted into the hospital, where he will be treated.

STOLE LAUNDRY.

CHILDS AGAIN A PRISONER.

Willie Childs is a prisoner at the City Jail, charged with petty larceny with prior conviction. He admits having stolen a package of laundry from a wagon of the Crescent Laundry. Childs is 26 years old and has had considerable experience in jail in Arizona, it is said, as well as in Los Angeles. If sentenced on this charge it is probable he will go to the penitentiary.

Childs was at the corner of First and Alameda streets Saturday evening when a laundry driver asked him to watch the wagon while he delivered a package. When the driver returned to his vehicle Childs was absent and so was several packages of clothing. The matter was reported to the Police Station, and Childs was arrested a few hours later at the corner of Temple and New High streets. Later a package of the stolen laundry was located in a Main street bootblack stand, which Childs left it. The other property has not been located.

Childs was formerly convicted in the City Police Court of petty larceny, he having stolen a laundry wagon. At that time he was sentenced to ninety days in jail. After his release he went away, and the detectives say he served time in the Arizona penitentiary at Yuma.

He has also been mixed up in several disreputable scrapes in Los Angeles, and has been charged with burglary on one or two occasions. Friends interceded, however, and secured his release.

SULLIVAN'S CONTROL.

MAKES HIM DO THINGS.

Leland Sullivan, who roomed in a Main-street lodging house, is charged with insanity and is being detained at the City Jail. Sullivan attacked a policeman at the corner of Figueroa and Washington streets yesterday morning, and might have done the man violence had not Policeman Matthews interfered.

Sullivan told the patrolman that he was under the influence of a spiritualistic spell and not to blame for his capers. A power exerted over him, he said, was by a woman who lives at the Pacific Lodging House on Spring street between Fifth and Sixth streets. He begged Matthews to go there and release the woman to take him from the spell.

The man talked otherwise incoherently on a number of subjects, so he was taken to the Receiving Hospital and put to bed.

THE HURON STORM.

Wrecks Seamen Rescued at Different Life-saving Stations—Stranding of a Number of Lake Craft.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Dispatches received by the life-saving service today indicate that a very serious storm raged yesterday and last night on Lake Huron. These dispatches report a number of disasters to lake craft, and loss of life, all told, fifty-six seamen were rescued at different life-saving stations on the lake.

The first of the dispatches came from Port Huron, and says that last night the schooner Pauley, with a crew of eight; the schooner Amaranth, with a crew of nine; the schooner Paige, with a crew of ten, and the schooner Grace Boice, with a crew of eight, stranded three miles south of Port Huron on a reef, and that all the seamen were rescued by the life-saving crews. The dispatch adds that the schooner Gale also stranded but reported no lives lost.

Dispatches from Harbor Beach, Mich., announce the stranding of the schooner Sam Ward, south-bound from Port Huron to Algoma, with a crew of eight, one and a half south of Harbor Beach life-saving station, at 5 p.m. today. All on board were saved by the life-saving crew. The same dispatch reports the rescue of a crew of seven from the schooner Vienna at Bommerville, Can., which was wrecked at 4 o'clock this morning a mile from Harbor Beach life-saving station.

Crews at Point Aux Barques, Mich., reports the stranding of the schooner Andrew Jackson, from Algoma for Port Huron, two and a half miles east of Point Aux Barques, at 8 o'clock yesterday. The crew of seven were rescued by the life-saving station crew.

A COMPANY OF FLEECED SOLDIERS EVENED UP.

Exciting Experience of a Los Angeles Railroad Man With a Trainload of Sojer Boys From the Philippines on the Desert.

There is a bunch of gray hair in the raven top piece of a local railroad man, to be a memento of an experience he has just had. He was in charge of nearly a trainload of paid-off volunteer soldiers who recently crossed the continent from San Francisco. He didn't have a picnic.

Attached to the train was a whole carload of crazy men. They were volunteers who had gone mad in the Philippines from too much of the native brand of booze. There were seventeen of them in charge of five keepers.

Traveling did not seem to agree with their nerves, nor their maladies, and not far out of San Francisco they began to raise Cain. They could be heard howling and cursing all over the train, and once in a while one of them would let out a blood-chilling shriek.

When they all got to going at once, this Los Angeles railroad man says it was horrible.

In the middle of Nevada on the way across, one of them got away. He jumped out of one of the small car windows while the train was going full tilt. The railroad men and the keepers expected to see him killed by the fall, but he got up, seemingly unhurt, and cut off across the desert as hard as he could run.

The train was stopped as soon as possible, and the keepers set out after him as fast as they could lick it. It was exciting as a coursing match, and the passengers of the train watched with great excitement.

Finally the crazed soldier was run down and brought back, struggling wildly, to the train.

One of the adventurers of the train was due to a professional gambler. He wasn't an honest kind of gambler. He was a sure-thing dealer.

It wasn't much of a thing to get up a game with a lot of discharged soldiers with money in their pockets, and before the train was fairly out of San Francisco they were shooting craps. The sure-thing man's luck was most astonishing.

He had won nearly $600 of the soldiers' money before they discovered that the dice were loaded.

It isn't safe to play jokes like this on soldiers.

They made the conductor stop the train, and they threw the gambler off in the middle of the desert, miles from the nearest habitation.

He had been handled pretty roughly, and as the train pulled away he was lying there at the edge of the track, not trying to get up.

As the train was moving out, one of the soldiers pulled a gun and fired a shot back at him.

This idea was seized upon with enthusiasm, and a fittle fusillade of bullets tore up the ground about the unhappy wretch, while the train pulled rapidly away.

There is no way of telling whether or not he was hit.

If he was, there is a good find for a prospector somewhere in the Nevada wastes, for the man still had the ill-gotten $600 on his carcass. It was a characteristic soldier trick that they should not bother to take away the coin.

LOOLOOS DEFEAT DUTCH IN ANOTHER CLOSE GAME.

SHIMMINY WHALEN TAKEN OUT IN SIXTH INNING.

Jones Touched Up Hard at Intervals. Rhinestone Guessed Fairly Well—Record-breaking Crowd Saw the Sport. Even Break of Cripples-Statesmen.

Looloos, 5; Dutchmen, 4.

The locals took sweet revenge on Shimminy Whalen yesterday for his treatment of them on Friday, and by batting him out of the box won an interesting game by a close score. A big Sunday crowd of 6000 people filled the grand stand and bleachers and made a large amount of noise. The contest was a fairly good one in the way of fireworks, for there were eighteen hits evenly divided between the two clubs. They managed to see the ball with considerable ease, and both Whalen and Jones received various hard jolts, Shimminy being pounded effectively far three hits and as many runs in the fifth inning. His finish came in that round, and he retired, being succeeded in the sixth by Krug, who did good work, but the change came too late for the Dutch to win the game.

Rhinestone Bardie, who graduated to his present position from the lowly one of keeper of hostler at the Oakland grounds, did a trifle better than before, but still he is a poor guesser. The crowd handed him several baskets of kisses and rude names, but in deserving most of the lot, it can be safely said that he played no favorites.

The locals were out for blood, and raced away in the lead, as if they intended to shut the Dutch out, the score standing 5 to 0 in favor of the Looloos at the end of the fifth inning. After that the Dutch landed on Jones for several swats, rather severe, and managed in various ways to bring their final score to four runs. They did not begin until late in the day, however.

The Looloos began early, and run up two in their second attempt. After Reilly had been assisted out on a hit to Shay, Bowman drew a base on balls and stole second. Kelly fouled to Pabst and Shimminy soaked Ein Spies in the leg, sending him to first. Jones then came to bat, and, as he stepped to the plate was presented with a handsome bouquet of scarlet carnations tied with a stream of scarlet ribbon. He was due to strike out after this or hit it into some Dutch mit, but he surprised every one by driving a clean single past short field, filling the bases. Reitz then hit to Pabst, but that foul-mouthed player let the ball go past, and Bowman and Spies crossed the plate.

The others got there in the fifth inning, and as things turned out, these new runs were just enough to win with.

After Reitz had died at first on an infield hit, Hutch lined out his second two-bagger to the left-field fence. Shimminy became badly rattled for a minute, and entered a joint debate with Rhinestone Hardie over the difference between a Dutch strike and a Dutch ball. He was so excited that he passed Buffalo Atherton a base on balls, and Householder finished him by smashing out a hard one to right field, which bounded past Schwartz and before he recovered it, Hutch and Atherton had scored, Eddie himself reaching third base. He trotted in from there a moment later on Looloo Reilly's fine swel swat to left field.

Shimminy was on the verge of collapse several times during the third and fourth innings, but lasted through that fatal fifth. Dutch Capt. Pabst, who swears like a fishwife and uses vulgar language before ladies, decided then that Saimminy was not good enough, and put Krug in the box in the sixth inning. The sixth, seventh and eighth were devoid of runs for the locals, although they got two hits, as many bases on balls and a hit-by-pitcher.

The first Dutch run came in the sixth on a bunch of Looloo errors, and Dutch Jack Reitz juggled Dutch Reilly's little bouncer, and Brockhoff, who batted in place of Shimminy, put out a safe single through short. Wilson knocked a lucky scratch fly over Hutch's head and the bases were full. Fishwife Pabst then bounced an easy one to Looloo Reilly, who bungled, and the Dutch of the same name scored a run.

Jones let down in the eighth inning, and was hit for three singles. Nordyke bounced one over Oscar's head. Wilson knocked a nice drive over second, and Householder let it pass him, Nordyke scoring and Wilson reaching second base. Fishwife sacrificed, advancing Wilson, who scored a moment later on Schwartz's hit over second. In their ninth and last chance Shay doubled to center fence, and Householder made his second error of the game by muffing the ball. Krug followed with a bouncer over Looloo Reilly, and was later caught in a sneak off first base, the out causing a big excitement among the Dutch, who thus lost their only chance to tie up the score.

It reads as follows:

TODAY'S GAME.

The Looloos and the Dutch will play a regularly scheduled game this afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock. Hartwell and Iberg will be the opposing pitchers.

CRIPPLES COMING.

Next Thursday the Cripples will come to us for a four game series, instead of the Statesmen, who play the Dutch in Sacramento this week during the races. The Cripples, by the way, have been playing all kinds of good ball the past week against the Statesmen, winning four out of five games. That they may not do the same to us is to be hoped for.

FOUR OUT OF FIVE.

CRIPPLES SHOWING STATESMEN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Oakland dudes must have lost their rabbit's foot this afternoon, for after beating Sacramento four straights they allowed the ex-champions to take the fifth game by a score of 3 to 1, although they made many brilliant plays and at one time had a good chance to tie the score, if not to win.

Mohler, Oakland's new second baseman, was easily the star player of the game. He is certainly one of the best infielders in the league and his accuracy made him a decided favorite with the crowd. During the game he made several brilliant plays, including assists in two doubles and several remarkable stops of hot grounders. He scored Oakland's only run and the only three-bagger of the game.

The Sacramentos started their runmaking in the first by Devereaux, who had been walked by Johnson, scoring on Doyle's swift grounder between the third bag and short. Further damage was prevented by a clever double play of Mohler, Francks and Eagan. The Dudes came near scoring in their half of the inning on Doyle's fumble and Eagan's fly. In the second the Senators were quickly benched by another double by Mohler, Francks and Eagan, but in the fourth they made their second run on Doyle's hit to left field and McGucken's drive to center. Up to the sixth the Oaklands got but one hit off McNeely. In the sixth Mohler, who was first to bat, knocked out a hot grounder, which did not stop until it reached the left field fence, by which time the batter was safely lodged on third. Strieb went out on a drive to second, and Eagan reached first on Devereaux's error and Mohler scored. No other runs were made. The score:

MATINEE COURSING AT THE DOG PARK.

KILLARNEY LASS CAPTURES THE FINAL COURSE.

Evershore Was the Runner-up With Rock Island King Running Into the Fourth Ties—Barbecue Was one of the Day's Attractions.

After a month's vacation coursing was informally resumed yesterday at the park on South Santa Fé avenue, a forty-dog open stake being the attraction. Killarney Lass won the final with the good San Francisco dog Evershore as runner, Rock Island King running into the fourth ties.

The day was fine for coursing and a crowd of sports was out, one attraction being a free barbecue given by the dog owners. The dogs were in good form after their long rest and the hares were more than an average lot. Altogether the day was interesting.

Henry Lyon acted as judge, Street, Quiroio and Michelson alternated as slippers.

The results were as follows:

Springhall beat Stella B.; Peril beat Irma; Pinto B. beat Miss Rhea; Royal Fashion beat Galagher; Lady Bawn beat Twist Em; Red Hind beat Princess Royal; Victor King beat Chief; Evershore beat Queen Lil; Reward beat Sweet Briar; Angie Mac beat Perseus; Killarney Lass beat Selfish; Sir Prince beat Billy Clunie; Dick L. beat Modoc; The Emperor beat Solitaire, accidental bye; Last Choice beat Sir Dick; Rock Island King beat Lady Gene; John's Wildwood beat Black Lillie; Dingwall Dell beat Lady Edith; Dingwall Die beat Storm King; Merciless beat Jim Choate.

SPORTING NOTES.

NEW LOOLOOS ON THE WAY.

Magnate Jim Morley says he has some new Looloos on several trains, coming here as fast as they can, but whether they will arrive is only a matter of guesswork. He has been fooled several times by players dropping off at some water tank, and while there are a lot of hot-air stories circulating about new men coming for the local club, Morley says he will not have any until he gets his hands on them.

A local golf tournament is scheduled at the Country Club links for today.

There is talk of a shotgun match between Dave Llewellyn and John Hauerwaas as soon as the latter returns from his hunting trip.

The local chess tournament will be concluded in two weeks from today.

The Executive Committee of the Bowling Association will meet tomorrow evening in room 141 in the Wilson Block.

The newly-organizew gun club at Long Beach will give its first tournament next Saturday and Sunday, the shooting to be at blue rocks. A number of local trap and trigger enthusiasts will be present.

There is nothing particular doing in pugilistic circles this week, all the interest being centered in the coming visit of Champion Jim Jeffries, who is due next Tuesday.

The Terminal Island regatta will be held next Sunday afternoon.

The Olympics and the Imperials did not roll their game of nine pins yesterday.

A match at fifty blue rocks is proposed between Charley Van Valkenburg and A. W. Bruner on one team and Sam Smith and James Matfield on the other. A date for this possible contest has not been decided upon.

The Tufts-Lyon club beat the Angeles yesterday at Fiesta Park grounds in a well-contested ball game.

Abbot Not There.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Sept. 8.—The Abbot will not be able to trot against the world's record at the State Fair grounds in Syracuse tomorrow, being unable to get to Syracuse from Hartford before Monday evening.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—C. S. Titus, senior sculler of the Union Boat Club, today rowed a mile on the Harlem River, breaking the American tidewater record. He covered the distance in 5:08 2-5.

Tennis at San Rafael.

SAN RAFAEL, Sept. 8.—On the tennis court today Miss Ethel Sutton and Miss Florence Sutton beat Miss Violet Sutton and Miss Alice Hoffman, 6—1, 6—2. Miss May Sutton and Miss Merita Seymour beat Miss Florence Sutton and Mrs. F. H. Seymour, after a very close contest, 6—4, 3—6, 5—7, 8—6, 6—4.

Nelson's Condition Serious.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The condition of John Nelson, the Chicago bicycle rider whose left leg was amputated Saturday in consequence of an injury received last Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden, is still serious. Information comes from Bellevue Hospital that, unless blood-poisoning occurs before Tuesday, he may survive.

Cold Shivers Won.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—At Union Coursing Park today Cold Shivers won the great $2500 Futurity Stake, and his sister, Freeze Out, took third prize. Hickory Dick was second, Homer Boy won the champion stake, Game Boy being the runner-up.

SANTA MONICA CANYON'S CARNIVAL OF CRIME.

SEAMAN BEATEN AND ROBBED BY THREE NEGROES.

Victim Is Thrown Over a Bluff and Has an Arm Broken—Other Recent Outrages—More Porto Ricans Shipped to Hawaiian Islands.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The reputation of Santa Monica Cañon was upheld Friday night, when Charles Mahar, a messman from the steamship City of Para, was robbed and beaten by three negroes whose identity has not yet been discovered. Mahar was taken to the Marine Hospital in Los Angeles yesterday morning, where he is still confined with a broken arm and a badly-punched face.

Only a few knew anything about the hold-up yesterday, as the young man was very reticent. His story is that he had returned on the last car from Los Angeles, which reaches here at about 1 o'clock in the morning, and had started for the long wharf on foot. He was walking along the bluff and had almost reached the cañon when three men stepped out and demanded his money. This, which amounted to something over $2, was quickly given up, and, glad to escape so easily, he started on, but had hardly turned his back on the three, when one of them knocked him down and the other two, rushing to the fray, gave him a most terrible beating and threw him headlong down a steep trail to the beach. When he recovered consciousness it was 4 o'clock in the morning, his right arm was broken above the wrist, and, of course, his assailants were nowhere in sight.

Dr. H. C. Watts, surgeon of the ship, looked after the young man's injuries and sent him to the hospital, where he will probably remain until the ship's return from Honolulu.

Constable Pritchard, who looks after the cañon's interests, is a little skeptical concerning Mahar's story, as the bluff at the point where the header is said to have been taken is not less than forty feet high, and he argues that something more serious than a broken arm would have resulted from such a fall.

However, it cannot be said that such things do not happen up in the cañon, for T. R. Montano was assaulted by an unknown man Friday night and sustained a fractured skull as the result of being hit on the head with a stone, and Constable Pritchard, who arrested a man by the name of Tom Rogers at that place on the same night for disturbing the peace, bears some ugly scratches on his face where the man tried to gouge his eyes out.

SANTA MÓNICA BREVITIES.

The steamship City of Para sailed at 9 o'clock this morning for Honolulu, with about 400 Porto Ricans, who were taken out to the ship on the Southern Pacific at 2 o'clock this morning. The Colon, which will soon be due here, and the City of Para will be kept busy for two or three months from now on, transporting the contract laborers from here to the Hawaiian Islands.

The Santa Rosa is due here tomorrow from San Francisco with 190 passengers and a heavy cargo of freight.

An electric car ran into a Southern Pacific engine at the south end of bridge No. 1 this morning, and as a consequence the engine lost its cow-catcher and a heavy coupling iron. The car was not seriously damaged, and, fortunately, no one was hurt.

Today's guests at Hotel Arcadia include Lewis Campbell and wife, New York; George Sanby, Los Angeles; William Ried, New York; H. M. Brubaker, Covina.

The tennis tournament and tea at the Casino courts were largely attended on Saturday afternoon. Santa Monica society was well represented, and a delegation came over from the Soldiers' Home. Miss Lailah Holmes, who was hostess at the tea given after the tournament, proved a most charming one. In the finals of the play Tom Hutton and Miss Lailah Holmes won first prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peyton-Carter left yesterday for the East, after having spent the summer here.

Not "Weakness" BUT SYMPTOMS.

THERE IS NO SUCH CONDITION AS weakness in a man under fifty years of age, other than general debility. Prematureness, loss of vitality, etc., are but symptoms of some damage to the reproductive system caused by some contracted disorder of early dissipation. In looking for the location of this damage I generally find an enlarged, swollen and inflamed prostate gland. As this gland is the very center of the reproductive system it can readily be understood that inflammation of it must cause disordered function. These cases are promptly benefited by proper treatment, otherwise the patient goes from bad to worse. The essential point in all of them is the necessity of the cure of the focus of the trouble, in the prostate. Many men have unsuccessfully treated for a weakness and become discouraged, when if an antiphlogistic plan of treatment had been adopted instead of tonics, a cure would have been the result. In my experience there is no drug in the Pharmacopeia taken into the stomach that will every benefit this class of cases. My plan of treatment is entirely a local one and prompt results are obtained, as indicated by increased circumation and return of natural vigor.

My colored chart, which is free at office or by mail, is interesting to anyone wishing to study the anatomy of the male.

VARICOCELE.

Varicocele is an enlargement of the most vital blood vessels in man. In their normal condition their function is to carry off waste material, thus enabling the organs to receive fresh nutrition. Owing to the breaking down of the valves, caused by the paralysis of the muscular coat of the veins, they become dilated and local stagnation of the blood follows. The vital nerves, being deprived of their proper quality and quantity of nourishment, weakness is the result. Statistics prove that 75 per cent. of the male population are afflicted with varicocele in some stage of the disease. I guarantee to cure varicocele in one week, without the use of knife, caustic or ligature. I have cured over 2000 cases without a single failure or unpleasant result. I invite correspondence and the fullest investigation of my methods, and can refer to cured patients if desired.

AGRICULTURAL POSSIBILITIES.

THE Manufacturers' Record has published an article on the agricultural possibilities of the Southern States, from which these facts and deductions are compiled:

During the year 1900 the United States produced on 42,495,285 acres 822,229,505 bushels of wheat. This was on about 66,400 square miles. It is believed by the best thinkers and writers that within twenty years the South will be producing, if prices should justify, over 500,000,000 bushels of wheat on 25,000,000 acres, which is less than 40,000 square miles and less than one-twentieth of the superficial area of the South. This accords with a statement made by Mr. Edward Atkinson that the present wheat crop could be produced on the unoccupied lands of three of the Southern States or Territories.

The corn crop for 1900 was grown on 94,430,672 acres, and aggregated 2,105,102,520 bushels. This was an average yield of 22.3 per acre, and occupied an area of 150,183 square miles. Quite as much as the lands in Holland and East Lothian in Scotland are, and irrigated, one-half of the now unoccupied lands in the States named would produce more than 500,000,000 bushels of corn, or out of the 293,727 square miles embraced by these States, there were in cultivation, or rather in improved lands in 1889 only 79,355 square miles, or a little over one-fourth. Put one-half of these six States in corn; have an improved system of cultivation, no fallowing, no irrigation, and let the yield be reduced to 22.3 bushels per acre, and the present corn crop of the United States would be duplicated.

The cotton crop of 1900 including seed, was valued at $535,000,000. Dr. Dabney, the former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture for the United States, in an elaborate essay published in the Southern Farm Magazine in 1897, said: "Experience shows that cotton is limited by climatic conditions to that portion of our country south of latitude 37 deg. The greatest belt of this country thus covered is about 24 deg. of longitude and 12 deg. of latitude. Excluding from cotton section Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri, California, Arizona and New Mexico, in all of which cotton has been cultivated, and where a new demand would cause its culture to spring up again, and excluding also all of Northwestern Texas, which is not adapted to its culture, the fast-growing region of this country comprises over 550,000 square miles, which was nearly one-third of the total settled area of the United States in 1880. Over 50 per cent. of the 550,000 square miles is in farms, and about 25 per cent. is improved. The striking fact for our present consideration is that of the total area, but about 8 per cent., or one-tenth of that in farms and one-fourth of the area of the improved land, is actually cultivated in cotton. Since the present methods of cultivation result, roughly speaking, two and one-half acres to produce a 400-pound bale, 25 acres now in farms in this region would, if all cultivated in cotton, produce over 30,000,000 bales. So favorable conditions and soil are found therein, there is no limit to the amount of cotton that can be produced by this country until the world has become at least ten times what it is at present."

Mr. Dabney based this production on the estimate of one bale of 400 pounds to three acres and a half, when by proper fertilizing, one acre may be made to produce from one to two bales of 500 pounds each. Indeed, with such intensive farming the present cotton crop could be easily grown in the State of Texas alone, which now produces one-fourth the crop, not less than 25,000,000 acres are required in the production of this crop, while a conservative estimate of all lands capable of producing cotton would not be less than 150,000,000 acres. Dr. Dabney estimates that by 1950 the world's needs for cotton will reach 20,000,000 bales. By the end of the present century it is not improbable that the demand for cotton goods may require a crop of 100,000,000 bales, all of which the South could furnish, and yet be left duplicate by intelligent, not to say, intensive, farming all the other combined crops now produced in the United States.

The average crop of the United States is nearly 500,000,000 pounds grown on 60,000 acres, or less than 100 square miles, which is about the area contained in two average counties. This crop could be duplicated upon one-tenth of the unoccupied lands of the South.

The wheat crop at present grown in the South is 134,990,720 pounds, estimated to be worth $10,000,000. This is one of the growing agricultural industries of the South. While the Southern States do not produce much hay, enough to offset by the cotton, rice and tobacco products.

The production of oats in the United States is 809,126,989 bushels, grown on an area precisely equal to that of the State of Tennessee, viz., 42,000 square miles.

The estimated value of all farm products of the United States for 1900 was $4,500,000,000. Should the cotton crop of the South could sell at 10 cents cotton enough to reach

Now the value of the agricultural products of the South to be $1,220,506,000, as estimated, and it will approximate 27 per cent of nearly one-half of the agricultural products of the United States. In this estimate were included, apparently, hemp, peas and beans, which would run up the value several millions of dollars. If these products have been made on the square miles of improved land (1890) out of a total of 550,000 square miles in the South, that is to say, there is only 20 per cent of the lands of the South improved, it is reasonable to conclude that only 50 per cent of the land susceptible of being improved, and which should easily produce the value of agricultural products per acre, 50 per cent. of its territory could, by using any improved methods of cultivation or fertilization, and with more efficient labor.

BUILDING THE RAILROADS.

HARRIMAN'S BIG CONTRACT.

The contract, signed and approved in the name of the Wabash Railway Company's board, by which St. Louis is a contract for the construction of 4,000,000 tons of iron and steel products. This immense volume of material is to be turned over to the Wabash Railway yearly by the Carnegie Steel Company, on the condition that the Wabash own and operate the line into Pittsburgh.

The story that President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash, and Tom L. Johns in the Toledo Blade, had made the contract, he provided that the deal was in the way of a combination to invalidate it. When the steel trust took over the Carnegie company the Wabash was included in the deal as much as the plant, and other interests of the Carnegie company. In order to get into Pittsburgh it was necessary for the Wabash to secure control of the Wheeling, a deal involving the expenditure of $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 in securities and the construction of terminals in Pittsburgh at an expense of $3,000,000 more. All of this must be done in opposition to the Pennsylvania interests. At a time when the movement being made to bring all of the large systems into closer relations is this movement a bold stroke of almost incredible magnitude.

Even in these days of large combinations, when deals run up into the dizzy millions and billions, this one ranks among the largest. It is an almost impossible task to get at anything like a conception of the magnitude of the contract. Some of the largest railway systems in the country do not move 4,000,000 tons, including all classes of freight, in a year. With one dash of a pen President Ramsey secured sufficient traffic to support a railroad system. Last year, when its traffic was the heaviest in the history of the road, the Wabash, with a mileage of 2368, extending from Buffalo to Kansas City, through the most important commercial centers, moved little over twice the amount called for in the Pittsburgh contract. In the previous year the number of tons moved by the Wabash lines east and west of the Missouri River amounted to a little over 7,000,000 tons. There was a time when the Wabash officials thought that the property would reach its limit when it moved 4,000,000 tons.

And the earnings resulting directly from the handling of the 4,000,000 tons will scarcely exceed the revenue from other business which the tonnage will bring to the company. It is very difficult to estimate the strategic importance to the Wabash of this increase in tonnage. It will go to all of its connections with 4,000,000 tons of new business.

The western lines, in distributing their Coast-bound business, will give great consideration to the fact that the Wabash has 4,000,000 tons of steel and iron out of Pittsburgh. They will want their share of it, and will increase the amount of business routed by the Wabash. With a line into Pittsburgh the Wabash tonnage ought to be almost doubled with a corresponding increase in earnings.

The volume of business represented by 4,000,000 tons is not comprehended by considering the abstract figures. It will require from eleven to twelve trains per day with the largest locomotives to handle the business out of Pittsburgh. This calculation is based on the supposition that the weather is favorable to the movement of large trains. During the winter, the number of trains will be increased to fifteen or sixteen.

Four million tons of this character would fill between 130,000 and 140,000 cars. Put them in trains with locomotives and caboose attached, and you would fill a four-track line and the usual amount of siding of such a line extending from Toledo to Pittsburgh. If you would stand them on a double track line they would extend from Pittsburgh to Chicago. They would also fill the Wabash from Toledo to St. Louis if it were a double track and block all of the yards on the road. Throw all of these cars into a single train and it would extend from New York through Toledo to a point 100 miles west of Chicago. It would be a train 1000 miles in length. If all the locomotives were attached to one end of the train, the last one would be passing through Chicago as the rear end of the train left New York.

Fifty years ago, to move 4,000,000 tons from Pittsburgh to Toledo in one year would have been an impossible feat. Even twenty-five years ago, no railroad would take such a contract. But the Wabash proposes to distribute to almost every point in the West, going over its connections as far as the Pacific Coast.

Just think of what such a movement of freight would mean in the days of horses and wagons and stage coaches. Within the memory of some of the older citizens of Toledo, a ton would be a two-horse load on the wagon roads from Toledo to Pittsburgh. Giving the horse the advantage of all doubts and it would require 4,000,000 teams or 8,000,000 good draft horses to move the Wabash tonnage out of Pittsburgh. If it were put into one load, Pile 4,000,000 tons of steel into a wagon train, and start it west out from Pittsburgh. Driving each team as close as safety would permit, and about the time the last team walked out of Pittsburgh, the first team of the line, encircling the globe, would enter Pittsburgh from the east.

Pan-American Line.

The announcement, says a bulletin of the Treasury Department, that American capital has taken control of, and will complete the unfinished section of the Transcontinental Railway system of South America, connecting Chile and Argentina, suggests that there may follow a practical revival of interest in the great project for a Pan-American railway line to connect the North and South American railway systems, advocated for many years by Hinton Rowan Helper, says the Railway Age, and calls attention to the figures given by the Intercontinental Railway Commission on the proposed through railway line from New York to Buenos Ayres. These figures, which were issued in 1898, show the entire distance, by the proposed route, from New York to Buenos Ayres to be 10,228 miles, of which 4773 miles were then constructed and 5456 yet to be constructed, at an estimated cost of $175,000,000. The following table shows the number of miles of railway suitable for a through Pan-American line existing in each country in 1898, and the number of miles necessary to be constructed to complete the through line:

Fast Trains.

Some of the papers have reprinted more or less at length a column article published lately in the London Daily Mail on the railroad speeds of different countries. For the purpose of comparing the best express trains of Great Britain, France and the United States, four classes of trains were specified, to-wit: Those with stripe exceeding 300 miles in length, those with journeys of 200 to 300 miles, those running from 100 to 200 miles and those having distances of less than 100 miles. The article in question says that, in view of the recent reduction of the speed of the famous train of the Southern Railway of France between Paris and Bayonne to fifty miles per hour, the Empire State Express, between New York and Buffalo, at 53.3 miles per hour, still has the honor of being the fastest long-distance train in the world. In the second division, Great Britain leads and in the third France is at the head. Under 100 miles the distinction of possessing the fastest platform to platform runs belongs to the United States, and almost exclusively to the trains of the Philadelphia and Reading and the Pennsylvania between Camden and Atlantic City, the fastest schedule rate of the former being 66.6 miles per hour and of the latter 64.3 miles per hour. These brilliant runs as they appear in the schedules often gain additional luster from the making up of time. The Philadelphia and Reading trains are apt to be considerably delayed in getting out of Camden, and the Pennsylvania's exit from that city is not the most satisfactory in the world. The writer traveled lately on a Pennsylvania train of twelve cars from Camden to Atlantic City, scheduled to make the run in sixty-four minutes, but doing it actually in an even sixty minutes for the fifty-nine miles. The start was on time, and the arrival four minutes ahead of time.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTER.

WILL FEED THE WORLD.

American and European statistical authorities are pretty well agreed that upon the United States this year depend the chances of the world for bread. Recently at New York 1,754,000 bushels of wheat cleared for shipment abroad. It is the greatest quantity ever cleared in one day, says the Pittsburgh Times, and is significant of the foreign demand and the ability of the United States to provide what is needed. Egypt and India this year are rated as self-supporting in the matter of wheat. Famine has dealt so severely with the Orient that there is no surplus for export. Europe will be short by 275,000,000 bushels of wheat. The United States promises a surplus of about that amount, making it possible for the hungry mouths of the Old World to be fed by the American plenty. Russia is confronted with a shortage, and a famine. The oriental countries and Africa are increasing their demands for wheat, while the export supply outside of the United States does not materially grow. The 275,000,000 bushels of wheat available in the United States for the export trade is the margin of safety which hangs between the Eastern Hemisphere and want. It may be as gratifying to the people beyond the sea to know they can get food in the United States as to be able to get it at home. Yet it is far better than not to be able to get it at all. It becomes an interesting speculation as to what the old countries would do for food by this time had America not been brought into the limit of possibility by the discovery of Columbus. Wheat, meat and the more unimportant food products to the value of hundreds of millions are carried across the sea every year to make up deficiencies in the European and Asiatic supply. Europe would press closely upon the limit of subsistence were the United States not available.

Education and the Textile Trade.

In the following paragraph the Manchester Courier discusses some things for the benefit of English commercial and industrial interests. Indeed, there may be a few hints in the paragraph that might prove of interest to Americans. We quote: "The ever-growing interest of European countries in the textile industries finds significant expression in their educational systems and the elaborate apparatus used in connection with them. In the great commercial schools of Berlin, Leipsic, Vienna and Paris the facts and figures concerning British manufactures are illustrated for the students by every appliance known to science. A striking form of illustrating the world's production of wool is by means of a circle divided into sections worked out according to scale, and showing the amount of raw material contributed by the various countries of the world. This method is not unknown to English statisticians, but what is here almost confined to the learned volumes of statistical experts is matter for class-room instruction abroad. The stolid Briton may perhaps comfort himself with the fact that at present the most striking feature of these illustrations is the extent to which Great Britain and her colonies hold her own. The great Australasian Commonwealth itself furnishes one-quarter of the whole world's production. But what is of even more importance than the production of wool or woolen fabrics is the ability to sell commodities in foreign countries. For this a knowledge of many languages is necessary, and the enterprise of these great continental schools in this particular is most remarkable. At Leipsic, Berlin and Vienna are professorships in all the languages of the Far East, and it is a fact that German commercial interests are pushed in India itself by young men trained in these great institutions to speak and write not merely Hindustani, but many of the dialects of India. It is this fact which is making the competition with foreign countries so keen, and it points a moral English educationists should at once learn."

Our Seats of Learning.

Today there are 629 universities and colleges and 43 schools of technology in the United States. The total value of the property possessed by institutions for higher education amounts to $342,855,361, a gain in one year of $31,000,000. The endowment fund amounts to $154,120,590. The total income for the year 1899-1900, benefactions excluded, amounted to $27,739,154. The value of gifts and bequests during the year 1898-99 amounted to $21,925,436. Some $2500 is invested for each student who is now enjoying the advantages of any of the institutions of learning. Classical courses, says the Scientific American, claim the greater number of students—35,595 out of 147,164—while 21,860 were taking general culture courses, 9855 general science courses, 2593 instruction in agriculture, 4276 in mechanical engineering, 2560 in civil engineering, and 2320 in electrical engineering, 1032 students were studying mining engineering, 627 architecture, 9501 pedagogy, and 6698 were taking business courses. The number of degrees conferred during 1899-1900 for work done, was 15,087—10,794 on men and 4293 on women. Thirty-eight different varieties of degrees were conferred, and in some cases only one candidate received a degree—musical doctor, for example; 735 honorary degrees were conferred. In 1872 the number of students to each 1,000,000 of population was 573; in 1880 it had increased to 770, in 1890 to 850, in 1893 to 1037, while in 1899 the number was 1196.

A Belgian consular report places the sugar crop of Cuba this year at nearly 600,000,000 kilograms (about 660,000 tons,) or nearly double that of last season.

A contract has been closed between the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé Railroad Company and a fuel company of Beaumont for Beaumont fuel oil. Under the contract the Santa Fé Railroad agrees to take from the fuel company a minimum of 9,000,000 barrels of oil during the next twelve months.

At the Fraternal Congress of Assessment Insurance Societies in Detroit, Chairman P. D. Markey of the Committee on Statistics, presented a report showing that the protection in force at the end of the year was $4,585,579,982, a net increase for the year of $401,962,932, while the amount represented by the new certificates was $78,179,794.

Wages are falling in England. According to the Board of Trade return for July, the changes in rates of wages reported during the month affected 275,768 workpeople, and the net effect of all the changes was a decrease averaging 1s. 1¼d. weekly per head. The net result of the changes reported in June was a decrease averaging 1s. 3¼d. per head in the weekly wages of 24,560 workpeople, and during the corresponding month of last year the net result was an advance averaging 2s. 1¼d. per head in the weekly wages of 393,471 workpeople.

During the past year Washington State shipped 43,000 carloads of lumber and shingles by rail, 40 per cent. of which amount was consumed within the State and by its southern neighbor, Oregon. Minnesota used 2135 carloads and Iowa 2235 carloads. Two of the largest lumber mills in the world are located on Puget Sound, the larger at Port Blakeley, across the bay from Seattle, with a "cut" of 96,153,109 feet for 1900, the Tacoma mill being second in size and output.

It is reported that a new process has been developed whereby the manufacture of lime will be revolutionized and the cost of production reduced 50 per cent. The new method is known as the Eldred process, and it calls for the use of a cheap grade of coal instead of wood, which has been used for obtaining the best lime. It is understood to be a new discovery of thermodynamics, by which the volume and temperature of combustion are controlled. A flame of low-heat intensity, thirty feet long, is produced, by which a cask of lime is made with thirty pounds of coal.

A movement is on foot in Mexico to establish in the City of Mexico a permanent display of the goods of American manufacturers, and at the same time to place in at least one of the great cities of the United States a similar permanent display of the products of Mexico. By this means it is believed that not only would the importation of goods from the United States be greatly increased, but that much of the trade which is now controlled by European manufacturers can be diverted. The city where the first permanent exhibit will be placed will probably be St. Louis.

The Journal of Commerce remarks that the New York City premium receipts of the fire insurance companies for the first half of 1901 make an unusually good showing; in fact, the total is greater than has ever before been exhibited in a half year. The following table will show the figures for the first half of 1899, 1900 and 1901:

Companies.	1899.	1900.	1901.
Local	$1,243,217	$1,649,665	$2,453,221
Agency	1,174,065	1,680,951	2,306,986
Foreign	1,448,268	1,828,074	2,668,134
Totals	$3,866,151	$5,158,690	$7,428,342

Consul Taylor of Glasgow writes in regard to recent newspaper attacks on the American engines used by the Glasgow tramways. It was asserted that the engines, at the opening of the exposition, were incapable of running; that later, when tried with a light load, they broke down through the bearings becoming overheated, and that they were generally unsatisfactory. The Consul says: "These assertions were never warranted by complaints emanating from those who had supervision of the tramways. I have the very best authority for saying that not only have the American engines fulfilled, but they have exceeded expectations."

The outlook for the shipbuilding trade abroad is rather better than it has been. Fairplay of London notes a stiffening in prices, and says: "It is at present extremely difficult to contract for a steamer for delivery before the end of next year, as all, or nearly all, the cargo boatbuilders are full. It is believed that during the past two months orders for about 500,000 tons of shipping have been placed. It is maintained by some that the price for building new tonnage will not go lower for at least twelve months, as wages, which absorb the larger portion of the price of a new cargo boat, will not be lowered owing to the large amount of work in hand."

Writing on the effect of the steelworkers' strike, the Iron Age observes that official figures reflecting the position on August 21 throw a flood of light on the situation so far as it directly interests the trade. The normal product of the steel plants controlled by the United States Steel Corporation is 525,000 tons of Bessemer steel ingots and 235,000 tons of open-hearth steel ingots, a total of 760,000 tons per month. On the date mentioned steel works were in operation whose normal output is 610,000 tons of ingots per month. Statistics relating to the finished steel products of all kinds show that the normal production is 700,000 tons per month. On August 21, when the situation was nearly what it is today, the product was at the rate of 513,000 tons per month. This, of course, includes rails, plates, wire and structural material not at all affected, and bars, sheets, tubes, hoops, etc., whose production is curtailed more or less. In other words, the output of ingots is reduced to the extent of about one hundred and fifty thousand tons, while the production in some finished lines is cut down in the aggregate by about 187,000 tons per month.

Gustave Bock, in the course of a report to the Cigar Manufacturers' Union, takes the ground that even if Cuba sent all her cigars to the United States—and she produced 200,000,000 last year—this could not seriously affect the American producers and manufacturers, who last year sold 5,000,000,000 cigars in the United States. Even if Cuba were to more than double the present output, and to send all to the United States, this would not change the situation. Mr. Bock points out also that the tobacco soil in Cuba is limited, and that the American grower has the advantage of the Cuban grower in view of the fact that the cost of production of tobacco is greater in Cuba than in the United States.

In view of the recent movement at Fall River to reduce millworkers' wages, and the strikes that were expected to follow as a result, it is well to notice the quarterly dividend list prepared within the week by Haffords & Co. From this we learn that the last quarter's payments amounted to $236,550 on a capitalization of $21,301,000, or an average of 1.11 per cent., a decrease of 26-100 of 1 per cent. from the preceding quarter and of 64-100 of 1 per cent. from the corresponding quarter of 1900. Ten corporations passed dividends this quarter, as compared with four in the preceding quarter and three in the corresponding quarter last year. All things considered, the dullness of the trade and the heavy losses some of the corporations are reported to have sustained, the statement is deemed a rather fair one.

Cuba's imports of iron and steel and their manufactures amounted in 1900 to $4,751,395, an increase of $1,820,550, or 62 per cent. in excess of 1899. To the total the United States contributed $2,685,829, an increase of 54 per cent. over last year. In 1900 Germany furnished nearly twice the quantity it sent in 1899, or $212,795 worth, and Great Britain furnished $690,734 of the sum, more than twice the 1899 total. France is credited with $111,943, as against $57,815 for 1899. Spain increased its outgo from $18,714 in 1899 to $26,106 in 1900. Austria, Switzerland and Belgium also added to the figures for 1899. Thus in 1899 Austria sent $625 worth, Switzerland $732, Belgium $12,635, whereas in 1900 the figures for the first-named country were $2150, for the second $2228, and for the third $19,020. Mexico and "other countries" show the only losses. Mexico's export to Cuba in 1900 was $200, a decline of $523 from the preceding year, and for "other countries" the figures dwindled from $2538 in 1899 to $338 for 1900.

DOUBT
LACK OF KNOWLEDGE.
Women who are yet to experience the trial of motherhood should post themselves and reason with modern intelligence. Theories based upon the conditions that surrounded your grandmothers or of the lower animal kingdom, should not be advanced—is pure ignorance. Fashion and civilization has changed your mode of living, dress and thought. The modern mother need not suffer, yet she surely will if nature is left alone to mould the fetus and give successful issue of the living child. Mother's Friend is a softening and relaxing liniment, for external use shortly after a woman finds herself pregnant, or as soon as fullness and discomfort with morning sickness is evident. It relieves the excruciating pain occasioned by the strain on the tendinous attendants of the abdominal muscles. A bottle costs $1.00, and is sold by all druggists.

MANY CHURCH-GOERS AT SANTA ANA.

RETURNED SUMMER CAMPERS BECOME WORSHIPFUL.

Prayers Offered for the Recovery of the Wounded President—Tribute From the Pulpit to the Worth of the Chief Executive—Brevities.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] There was a good attendance at the various churches in the city today, many of those who had been off camping, and at the different coast and mountain resorts, having returned to their homes. The various pastors touched upon the attempted assassination of the President and in their prayers the great and good President was not forgotten. Some of the ministers spoke of the spread of anarchy in America and they also had something to say of the probable future of this damnable doctrine in the hands of true American citizens, and their words were warmly received by the members of the different congregations. In several of the pulpits the contents of the latest Associated Press bulletins relative to the condition of the President, were given, thus giving the anxious church-going public the very latest information from the bedside of the Chief Magistrate.

WATER COMPANY MEETING.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The directors of the water company met Saturday afternoon. The superintendent reported that the expense account for regular employés the past month was $450, and that in addition to the regular work, 2600 feet of ditch had been cemented. The Finance Committee reported $11,554.77 available cash on hand, September 1; that the water sales the past month were as follows: Anaheim, $722.77; Fullerton and Placentia, $1414.67. The expenditures, including the Northam note of over $3000, were $4897.01.

The Finance Committee refused to O.K. the bills of the following civil engineers: W. H. Sanders, $255.50; F. E. Trask, $213.90; H. C. Kellogg, $300.44. Director Sherwood believed the company was paying out by far too much money for engineering, but the bills were finally ordered paid by a majority vote of the directors, the chairman stating that there was a lot of litigation under way, and that the company had to have this work done and must pay the bills. The surveyors are preparing data to be used in the lawsuit with Newberry, and are paid $12.50 a day each and expenses while in the field, and $15 a day for consultation. During the past month this work, including the engineering by the regular employé, has cost the company nearly $1000.

A. T. Pendleton, charged with tampering with a water gate July 4, stated that the act of the official in reporting the matter to the board was malicious; that he did raise the gate, as he was not receiving half the water he was paying for, but that he did it in good faith, reporting it to the zanjero early next morning. From the evidence it was found that Mr. Pendleton, while technically guilty of the charge, did not intend any such violation, and that no loss or damage was suffered by the company or any irrigator. The directors approve the action of the employés in reporting the facts to the board, and desire to convey to every stockholder the determination to hereafter hold to strict accountability every violation of the bylaws and rules, but no further action will be taken in the matter of the charges against Mr. Pendleton. The fine of tampering with gates is $25.

The matter of levying an assessment went over without action.

BUNK HOUSE ROBBED AT ORO GRANDE.

SECTION HAND SUSPECTED OF BEING THE THIEF.

Suspect and Booty Missing—New Power Company Organized by Los Angeles Men to Generate Electricity in Mill Creek Canyon.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] Word has reached here of a robbery committed yesterday at Oro Grande. Murando is missing and the officers are looking for him.

NEW POWER COMPANY.

Articles of incorporation of the Mentone Power Company, which recently purchased a power right in Mill Creek Cañon, were filed yesterday. The company is capitalized at $500,000, of which $5000 has been subscribed by the following, who constitute the board of directors: William G. Kerckhoff, E. A. Beck, Otto Weiss, H. W. O'Melveny and M. G. Ehrman, all of Los Angeles.

The Supervisors recently granted the company the privilege to construct a pole line from Mill Creek Cañon to the western boundary of the county for the transmission of electricity, which will be carried on to Azusa and from there to Los Angeles over the wires of the San Gabriel Power Company. The company is carrying on extensive development work in the cañon.

VETERAN FIREMEN AT SANTA BARBARA.

MEN WHO RAN WITH THE OLD MACHINE IN '49.

Survivors of San Francisco's First Fire Department Going to Celebrate in the Channel City—Pioneer Fire Engine Jealously Guarded.

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] Nearly all the surviving members of the Veteran Firemen's Association of San Francisco arrived tonight on the south-bound train for the annual reunion and celebration, which will take place here tomorrow.

There are 120 of the old fire-fighters, many of whom are accompanied by their wives and other members of their respective families.

The old double-deck, hand-power engine, the first to be introduced in San Francisco, arrived by freight this morning and was immediately taken in charge by the local firemen.

Among the visitors are many men who came to California when the first discoveries of gold were made, and not a few have since risen to positions of importance in both the State and nation. They fought conflagrations in San Francisco when the bucket brigade was one of the best-known methods of coping with the flames, and when Market street was a mere foot trail. Belcher being the first one used in San Francisco, the old engine was the first to be operated west of the Rocky Mountains for several years, and the veterans are now guarding it as carefully as if it were the rarest of jewels. Every year for more than half a century it has held the place of honor in public parades, although now, with its magnificent array of festoons and other gay decorations, it has the appearance of having just come from the hands of the manufacturer, save for the scars and evidences of repair which tell the story of hard and faithful service.

At 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning the veterans and local firemen will form in line in the City Hall Square and, headed by a platoon of police and city officials, will march up State street to Carillo and countermarch to Haley, where street cars will be taken for the new bath pavilion at the terminus of Plaza del Mar. From this point they will proceed to Dibblee Cañon, where a barbecue will be given.

A band concert will be given in the afternoon at the pavilion by musicians brought from San Francisco by the veterans, and in the evening there will be a grand ball at the Armory.

Miss Belle Ott of this city will act as fire queen in tomorrow's ceremonies.

SANTA MARIA.

ELIZALDE ESTATE LITIGATION.

SANTA MARIA, Sept. 7.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] Since the death of the late Marcos A. Elizalde, several years ago, his estate, consisting of 3408 acres of land, lying in Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, and valued at $60 000, has been in almost constant litigation. There was at first a contest over a will alleged to have been made by the deceased ranch owner. This was finally thrown out of court. Then an action was brought against the bondsmen of the late Ernest Graves, P. W. Murphy, A. McAllister and Lugi Marre, who had been appointed administrator of the Elizalde estate, and who served in this capacity up to the time of his death, whose accounts, according to the books, showed a deficit of between $3000 and $4000. The suit was originally filed in San Luis Obispo county, and as a result of a preliminary contest, involving only points of law, the case was decided in favor of the plaintiff, Eliza P. Elizalde, the only surviving daughter of the deceased, now acting as administratrix of the estate. After this the case was transferred to the Superior Court of Santa Barbara county, where a final settlement will shortly be made. This week papers in action against these bondsmen have been filed with the clerk of the court.

BEET SEASON OPENED.

The Union Sugar Company commenced its third season's run last Wednesday, with Superintendent J. W. Atkinson in charge. Reports from the factory state that the season has begun with a most favorable outlook. Beets are being brought in in quantity sufficient to supply the demand, and are averaging in saccharine matter from 18 to 20 per cent. The beet yield is very good, and exceptionally so where they were early sown. The beet raisers in general seem satisfied. Beside 5000 acres planted by the company, about three thousand acres have been planted by ranchmen in this valley. This, with what is being raised elsewhere, is estimated to be ample to keep the factory running during the remainder of this year.

NEW ASPHALT MINE.

A new asphaltum mine is soon to be opened near More's Landing. The company whose capital is to work this mine is composed of Santa Barbarans, and is to be known as the Escolle Company. It is capitalized for $200,000, and expects to do an extensive business. The property has a sea frontage, and the asphaltum will be shipped either by railroad or steamship.

HEAVY TAX LEVY.

The tax levy for this county for the fiscal year will be considerably greater than for the past year. It will be $2.25 on the hundred dollars, against $1.70 last year's levy. This is due, not to an increase in the county's expenses, but to meet a deficit that from year to year has been carried, on which interest has been paid. Having met this deficit, the Supervisors propose to restore the old rate for next year. The rate for the school district will be 60 cents. This will be ample to meet running expenses and take up also school bonds amounting to $1000, besides paying interest on the remaining portion of the debt.

SANTA MARIA BREVITIES.

The forest rangers have been notified by the forest supervisor, Col. Cranshaw, that no person will be allowed on the government reservations carrying shotgun shells loaded with wads of paper.

W. J. Oaks, a saloonist of Pismo, who was recently refused a license to continue his business at that resort, has just gained a victory in the court of San Luis Obispo against the Supervisors. Judge Unangst has ordered that the clerk issue an alternative writ of mandate to each of said defendants, commanding them to issue to plaintiff immediately a retail liquor license, as prayed for. The order has been served upon the members of the board.

J. B. Lilliard of the South Side had an accident while hunting on the Zaca ranch a few days ago. He was on horseback, and was on a steep hillside, when, from some cause, his horse slipped and rolled down the hill, being killed on the way down. Lilliard had a narrow escape from death.

E. Rodrigues, who has been in the employ of the Suey ranch, met with a painful accident at the depot on Thursday afternoon. While standing near the scales preparing to weigh his load of grain, his team started, causing one wheel of his trail wagon to pass over his foot, crushing it badly.

Recklessness on the part of some of the high school boys caused little Hazel Tietzen to be thrown down and run over by a bicycle, seriously bruising the child and breaking an arm bone.

Supervisor Cox's wife is reported quite ill at her home, northwest of town.

Judge Kohn of Los Alamos is seriously sick. But faint hope of his recovery is entertained. His brother, residing at Petaluma, is at his bedside, having been summoned by telegraph.

Nat C. Cox and John Eddy, well-known residents of Los Olivas, were arrested on Wednesday by Game Warden Ables for illegally shooting does and fawns while on a hunting trip in the mountains. Neither denied guilt when taken before Justice of the Peace Lyons of Ballard. They were fined $25 each, which was promptly paid.

Officer Garrett Blosser is subpoenaing witnesses who are to testify in the Kelso murder case, set for September 23.

Walter Elliott, Asbury Cox and Judge Morris returned this week from a hunting trip in the mountains with considerable game.

N. B. Foxen of Foxen Cañon is slowly recovering from a long and severe spell of sickness.

Miss Martha H. Thomas of Los Angeles, a pupil of the Cumnock School of Oratory and a teacher of elocution and delsarte, gave recitations and delsarte exercises in McMillan's Hall last night, under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

CONEJO.

UNPRECEDENTED GRAIN YIELD.

CONEJO, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] Orville Wadleigh's threshing machine with a crew of forty-five hands and a new engine, has been making music on the Conejo for about two months, and will continue for about one month longer. The yield of grain exceeds the most sanguine expectations, and some say the crop has never been surpassed. Before any grain was cut, Mr. Holt, agent of the Southern Pacific, estimated that there would be 100,000 sacks, but the output thus far indicates that the total will be 200,000. It has taken so much time to handle the crop that those who will be served last in threshing begin to fear they will be late with fall plowing. There is a general hopeful feeling, and every available acre will be cultivated the coming season.

CONEJO BREVITIES.

The trustees of the Conejo school have engaged the services of Miss Gregory, and she entered upon her duties on the 2nd inst.

Miss Ella Russell has gone to Berkeley to resume her studies at the university.

SIMI.

OIL OPERATIONS CONTINUE.

SIMI, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The Simi Oil Company continues to operate on the northeast corner of the grant. They found oil in the first well, but not sufficient to satisfy them, so they abandoned it. Since then it began to flow more freely, and is now yielding about fifteen barrels. The second well was abandoned because tools were lost and could not be recovered, and the third well because of boulders encountered. The fourth well is reported as down 1300 feet, with flattering indications of a fine flow.

The McClure brothers struck oil on the Tapo, north of the Simi Company's wells, but found it so dense it could not be pumped. They abandoned this well, and are now boring a second. The McCrea brothers are also interested in the Simi Oil Company.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE.

The new and commodious addition to the schoolhouse in Simi is nearing completion, but will hardly be ready for occupancy by the 16th inst., as the contract calls for, owing to delay in securing material. But the community will be proud of it when completed, and already consider it a worthy rival of the fine schoolhouse at Chatsworth Park.

PASTOR RETURNED.

Rev. J. C. McClennan, pastor of the Simi Presbyterian Church, has returned from his three months' visit in the East, improved in health, and welcomed by his well-pleased congregation. While absent he attended the General Assembly at Philadelphia as a delegate, and visited his aged mother, whom he had not seen for nine years, at Sydney, N. S. He states that it is the intention of the local church to build a house of worship this fall. A subscription has already been taken, and Senator Bard, who holds some landed interests here, is one of the liberal contributors.

BIMIS TAKES A BRIDE.

W. C. Bimis recently took unto himself a wife, in the person of Miss Lloyd, niece of M. L. Montgomery and wife, residents here, and the happy couple are cosily settled on the Bimis ranch, about three miles northwest of Simi.

SAN DIMAS.

CITRUS UNION'S MEETING.

SAN DIMAS, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The second annual meeting of the stockholders of the San Dimas Citrus Union was held Friday at the union's packing-house. The meeting was very largely attended and harmonious.

During the forenoon the stockholders heard reports from the secretary-treasurer and manager, and also a portion of a very full and exhaustive report by P. J. Dreher, secretary and manager of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange, through whose office the selling business of the association is conducted. From 12 o'clock till 2:30 p.m. the time was spent as a reunion, a feature of the association which is proving a popular one among the members. A very bountiful luncheon was served by the ladies of the association in the basement of the building, followed by musical entertainment. Mrs. Herbert Thompson and Mrs. Huebert Knox gave a piano duet, followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. E. M. Wheeler; a guitar and mandolin duet by the De Lapp brothers; violin solo, Miss Jessie Thompson; reading, Bayard Jones; piano solo, Miss May Orcutt; vocal duet, Misses Shoemaker and Knox; whistling solo, Frances Gillette, ending with a vocal solo by Miss Rutherford. After this pleasant feature of the proceedings, the business was continued for the remainder of the afternoon in the offices. A board of directors, composed of D. C. Teague, Prof. C. B. Sumner, L. C. Meredith, D. C. McLuitty and W. A. Johnstone was elected unanimously, there being but one change in the directorate. It was felt that the average stockholder in the associations is at best poorly informed in the methods of selling in the exchange, and considerable time was spent in discussion of this matter. The stockholders instructed the board of directors to continue the use of a picking gang, to continue the monthly pools in selling and to thoroughly investigate the practicability of undertaking fumigation by the association for its members. The officers elected are: D. C. Teague, president; D. C. McLuitty, vice-president; L. C. Meredith, treasurer, and W. A. Johnstone, secretary. The association is growing very rapidly and has increased fully 50 per cent. Almost the entire acreage in its territory is controlled by the association, a strong recommendation of the movement after some seven years of its operation here. The association has seventy members, representing 600 acres of full-bearing orchards.

SAN DIMAS BREVITIES.

C. R. Wheeler and family of Parker, Kan., arrived last week. Mr. Wheeler will settle here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Johnstone are back from a two months' wagon trip to Yosemite, Santa Cruz and Santa Barbara. They covered 1250 miles.

William Bowring and family are at Catalina.

W. L. Reges and a party of local sports depart in quest of big game at the head of the range on Monday.

A burglar got into the house of Darius White a few nights ago. The thief got $32 in money. This is but one of a series of small robberies which have taken place recently in this vicinity.

Bennets', Lowry & Lawson's and Dreher's fumigating outfits are all at work cleaning up the black scale.

L. C. Meredith and family and D. C. Teague left this morning for a two weeks' trip to Coronado and San Diego.

Boatman's Gaff Put a Stop to a Novel Marine Battle—Signal Corps Men Hold Long Distance Conversation. Avalon Brevities.

AVALON, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] Another of those monstrosities called a "sunfish" was brought in yesterday. A party of lady anglers, composed of Mrs. J. K. Symonds, Mrs. Copeland, Mrs. J. Boland, Miss Symonds and Miss Maggie Symonds, when near Sphinx Rock, noticed a commotion in the water, and on running in close, it was discovered that a big school of bonita had attacked a sunfish, and a battle royal was in progress. The bonita were leaping upon and biting the monster and harrying it to the extent of their ability, and the big sunfish was fighting off its enemies as best it could. So engrossed were they in their battle that no notice was taken of the launch, which ran alongside of the contestants, until the boatman had thrust his gaff into the sunfish, when the bonita retreated, and the monstrosity was killed and dragged aboard the launch. It weighed 125 pounds.

VERNON.

JIMGRAYISM NOT WANTED.

J. C. Lewis is erecting a large two-story building for stores and office rooms on the southwest corner of Central and Vernon avenues. E. W. Doak is in charge of the work and the building has progressed rapidly, with no dissatisfaction of any kind expressed among the corps of workmen employed. The other day, however, the Los Angeles champion of strikes and walkouts, Jim Gray, swooped down upon the peaceful company of contented workmen and demanded an opportunity to talk with them. The foreman on the work politely but firmly refused to grant the interview, when the strike champion waxed exceeding wroth and declared he would exert his "rights." The foreman wouldn't stand for this, and led the jawsmith out of the building to the sidewalk. While warlike demonstrations were in progress on the sidewalk, the owner of the building telephoned to the Police Station to send out an officer, but Jim Gray, who had shed his coat in preparation for a "strike," evidently decided to waive his "rights" when the foreman also shed his garments for the fray, and mounting his wheel, he disappeared.

EAST LOS ANGELES.

FINISHING BIG FILL.

Work on the mammoth fill being constructed by the Southern Pacific, from its bridge across the Los Angeles River to the Buena Vista-street bridge, is drawing to a finish. For three months or more eighty men and seventy teams have been employed on this work. The embankment is 2500 feet in length, and wide enough on top for two railroad tracks. It has virtually been built up from the river bed, the material for its construction having been taken out of the river alongside, the bed being deepened about five feet. The banks of the fill are now being riprapped with stone from the Banning quarries, and the space between the grade and the bluffs of Elysian Park will be filled with stone, graded up and used for switch yards. Two tracks are now being laid on the new embankment. The work is estimated to cost about $40,000, and has given employment to many East Side men. By this improvement the Southern Pacific gains a straight line out of the city, and avoids the dangerous curves of its present line around the Elysian hills.

One of the heaviest pieces of work in street improvement ever undertaken on Pico Heights is now in progress on Fedora street from Pico to Tenth streets. NOLAN OF PASADENA IS STILL HIDDEN.

HE MAY APOLOGIZE FOR DEFAMING THE PRESIDENT.

Tables Turned on Jocular Electric Car Conductors—Chinese Blackmailer's Darkly-concealed Plot—Rev. Huston's Tribute to William McKinley.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 36 South Raymond avenue, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] James Nolan, who narrowly escaped a coat of tar and feathers yesterday on account of the statement he is alleged to have made regarding the President, is still in concealment, and his friends say that he is very penitent. They insist that he would not have said any such thing, nor entertained such sentiments, had he been sober. It is also announced that when he returns he will make a public apology.

Public interest in the affair is considerable, and there are two factions, one of which maintains that the man is a shrewd stock vender, who opens the pocketbooks of enthusiastic prohibitionists and church-goers with the story of his reformation from a drunkard, as a lever. The other side holds that Nolan is a man of good intentions, but weak when it comes to resisting the flowing bowl. He is known to have worked the reform of several of his acquaintances, and this fact is pointed out to show that he used his influence benevolently as well as in a business way.

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

There are an even dozen conductors on the extra list of the electric road for whom there was no work the other day. One of these determined to take advantage of the dull season by spending the day with his best girl. When the other fellows heard of this they decided to join him, even though they weren't invited.

The practical jokers arranged themselves in single file, about ten feet apart, and started out at about 9 o'clock a.m. The man who had the date entered into the spirit of the occasion at first, but when he glanced back at the procession which he was heading, and counting them, found that, with himself, there were thirteen, his heart failed him. If his girl was superstitious she might order him to take his friends and go. Then, too, even if she accepted the surprise party, her family might not stand for thirteen to one, he thought.

Finally he stopped and told the merry conductors that they would have to look for trouble elsewhere. They boisterously refused and insisted that they would follow him to the young lady's home if it took all winter. Then the victim of the joke lost his temper and ordered them to quit. They laughed at him, and that made his Irish rise.

"Come on, then," he said, and he set out at a pace that hustled the twelve to hold. Through the outskirts of the city they went, jollying each other and their victim along and raising a cloud of dust. After several milestones had been passed they began to wonder where the young lady lived. They vowed that a fellow who would call steadily on a girl that far out of town must have it pretty bad. The leader said nothing, but pounded the grit. When the mountains began to look close there were more murmurs, but the long stride of the victim of the joke did not lessen until about 3 o'clock, when he led the gang back to civilization. And the practical jokers are wondering yet where the fair damsel lives, and whom the joke is on.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

The text selected by Dr. J. M. Huston for his "Reminiscences of William McKinley" at the Methodist Episcopal Church this evening was from II Sam. 38-38. He said:

"The events of this biblical incident present a similar circumstance to the one that stirs this nation. Joab had treacherously murdered Abner. Consider the facts as reported in the papers relative to the man who committed this foul deed; for I say only a villain could attempt the life of William McKinley. First—He did not wish his name or friends to be known. He loved darkness. Second—He was stopping at a saloon. Third—He was an anarchist.

"Appleton's Cyclopedia of American Biography, the edition of 1888 does not list William McKinley. But McKinley has made history very fast in the last few years, so that when the full history shall be made up it will be found that he has made more history than any man since Abraham Lincoln.

"What are the leading elements in the character of William McKinley?

"First—Courageous devotion to duty. It was this same man, when a soldier boy covered with the smoke of powder, who, when the regiment was retreating for want of powder, rushed the ammunition wagon forward.

"Second—A thoroughly courteous man. That was a feature of his public addresses. His opponents received just consideration and no vituperation proceeded from his lips. I was once with him once to introduce him to a man who belonged to another party, that he might convert this man. But McKinley passed the compliments of the day, but never introduced the subject of politics. It was the characteristic of a great man. He knew it would be a waste of words, and why spoil a pleasant visit.

"Third—William McKinley had respect for and faith in the Christian religion. Miss Cartwright was holding meetings in Canton when the President was there with his sick mother. He found time amid all his duties to come around and inquire, 'Anybody saved last night?' and to grasp the hand of the new converts. Wherever the President was he was found at church and when convenient at his own, as should be true of every patriotic soldier of the Master. When we had a great deal of trouble with consuls who did not protect our missionaries as they should, McKinley said: 'I will appoint no man to these positions who is not in sympathy with Christian missions.'

"Dr. Cox, my old friend, relates meeting an old man and woman in Canton years ago and saying to himself, 'That is the handsomest man and most beautiful woman I ever saw.' On making inquiry he found it to be the father and mother of William McKinley. Years afterward he was holding a sacrament in the First Methodist Church in Canton, when he saw a young man at the table with an aged woman leaning on his arm. He recognized her as the same, and that young man was William McKinley, now President of the United States."

CHINESE BLACKMAIL.

Wing Lee, a Chinese laundryman, is "heap happy," and in token of his happiness has presented Chief of Police Freeman a fancy box of Chinese nuts and candies. The Chief headed off a blackmail scheme which a fellow-countryman of Wing's was working on him. The amount involved was only about $8, but the Celestial is just as grateful as if it were several times as much.

Wing lost a bundle of clothes out of the tail end of a wagon a week or more ago, and never knew where it went until another Chinaman came around and offered to reveal the whereabouts of the soiled garments in consideration of the sum of $8. Wing was at a loss to know what to do until the matter was submitted to a friend of his who had had the advantage of dealings with the police. The friend said: "Mister Freeman, he catch 'um." So "Mister Freeman" was put on the scent the other night, at 11 o'clock. The blackmailer was pointed out, and placed in the sweatbox. He declared that a woman living north of town had picked up the clothes and that she had delivered them to the would-be blackmailer. He designated the woman's house. As it was then nearly 2 o'clock in the morning, the Chief decided not to wake the woman up, and pretty nearly frightened the Chinaman into fits by telling him he would have to be locked up over night. At that John said "he'd tell 'um." Then the party began an expedition through the south of town, finally stopping at the corner of Center street and Oakland avenue, where the clothes were found hidden in a hedge. Wing Lee was very joyful at the recovery, which saved him about $25, that being their value.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

"John Doe" was arrested last night by the Chief of Police for drunkenness. He came out from Los Angeles on the "jag car," and set about kicking bicycles into the street from their mooring on the curb. He was remonstrated with, to no avail, and was flung into jail to recuperate. This morning he admitted that it served him right.

Rev. I. L. Spencer and Rev. H. T. Staats, pastors, respectively, of the North Pasadena Methodist Episcopal and North Congregational churches exchanged pulpits today.

Mayor M. H. Wright has telegraphed to Mrs. McKinley expressions of the sympathy felt by Pasadenans in general, and hope for the recovery of the President.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Youthful Burglar.

Ernest Burch, a degenerate lad 16 years old, was arrested yesterday on a charge of burglary. He is said to have stolen a watch August 21 from a tent in the river bed. The watch is the property of David Payer.

Undelivered Telegrams.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union telegraph office for Thomas J. Jordan, M. Edward D. Moss, A. M. Masser, W. J. Sanders, Miss E. Pearsons, Prof. R. H. Browne, M. D. Hartley and A. J. Doran.

Lottery Joint Raided.

Sam Lee was arrested yesterday afternoon and at the City Jail is charged with conducting a lottery at No. 231 East Second street. The lottery outfit is held as evidence against him. Lee was released upon depositing $100 bail.

The Wounded Bakers.

There has been considerable criticism because the would-be assassins who shot Rasch and Hurth, the two non-union bakers in this city, have not been apprehended by the police. The fact is, however, that there is not the least clew for the detectives at present; but the end is not yet, and the scoundrels may later come to judgment.

Woodmen's Festivities.

The Modern Woodmen of America will celebrate today with a monster picnic at Santa Monica. The day will be given over to various sports and games, and there will be a programme which will include addresses by prominent members of the order. The Woodmen of the World will also celebrate with a similar picnic at Long Beach, literary exercises and sports being on the programme.

Will Burn the Mortgage.

After a long struggle with a depressing debt, Grace Methodist Church on Hewitt street is about to pay out. When Rev. George M. Smith, the present pastor, took charge of the work there yet remained $2600 unpaid. This has been reduced to $340, and a benefit will be given in Simpson's Auditorium to raise this amount September 23. On the evening of the 29th a grand jubilee will be held and the mortgage burned.

Fire in a Dairy Barn.

Fire in the barn of the New England Dairy Company at No. 740 Turner street caused a loss of $150 just after 8 o'clock yesterday forenoon. A spark from the dairy ignited a pile of papers at one end of the barn, and in a few minutes the blaze was communicated to the building. Oleson & Johnson, proprietors of the place, say the building is damaged to the extent of $100, and the contents to the amount of $50.

Socialists' Meeting.

One hundred or more upholders of the Socialist Labor party held a meeting last night in Foresters' Hall to listen to a speech by Kaspar Bauer, entitled "The Last Strike," and to discuss among themselves the frayed-out question of the "workingman's rights." The attempted assassination of the President was emphatically denounced, and the trend of opinion was toward striking at capital from the ballot box, and not after the manner of the anarchist.

Jewish New Year.

Rabbi Edelman will conduct the new year, atonement and tabernacle services at the large hall in the Odd Fellows' building, known as "Fraternity Hall," on Main street, between First and Second. Mr. Edelman will lecture in English Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, subject, "Be Strong, of Good Courage and Fear not;" on Saturday morning at 11:30, on "Repentance, Prayer and Charity," and on Sunday morning at the same hour, on "The True Lesson of the New Year."

Strikers Return Today.

Today the striking workers in the building trades will return to their tools in accordance with the decision of Jim Gray and his gang to discontinue the futile fight to force the bricklayers to affiliate with the Council of Labor. The sensible surrender was greeted with a sigh of relief by the strikers, who secretly opposed the foolish movement. Many of the carpenters had returned to work in spite of the discredited czar's order, and now all can resume without fear of the boss agitators' fury.

Ground Flew Up and Hit Him.

George C. Scott was treated at the Receiving Hospital early yesterday morning for a severe cut just above the left eye, nearly two inches long and very deep. Scott was found drunk and asleep in a yard at No. 614 San Julian street shortly after 3 o'clock in the morning. The owner of the place telephoned to the Police Station and the sleeper was removed to the City Jail. Scott disclaimed knowledge of the manner of receiving the injury, and said he guessed the ground flew up and struck him.

Mundell Patriotic.

Melville Mundell, one of the men arrested Saturday at Central Park, sends to The Times a long explanation of his conduct, that resulted in his being charged with disturbing the peace. Mundell says he is not an anarchist, but a busy, patriotic American business man. He claims that he was simply passing through the park when he heard a jawsmith proclaim that "McKinley ought to be murdered; he is himself a murderer." Mundell says he stopped to denounce such anarchistic talk, when he was nabbed by a police officer.

Sunday at the Chutes.

There was a large attendance at Chutes Park yesterday afternoon and evening. Miss Jennie Lind performed the daring feat of coasting the chutes on a bicycle without the use of pedal or chain. Edward T. Adams, mimic and vocalist, who has been reengaged for the week, presented an olio of new songs, illustrating them with appropriate costumes and actions. The vitascope presented a new series of views and the Bohemian Glass Blowers were a unique attraction. The zoo has received a few new additions to the deer family and a baby seal in the aquarium. Today and tonight will be celebrated in appropriate style by the Native Sons. Fireworks will close the evening performance.

Sprinkled With Gore.

Two employés of Street Sprinkling Contractor Cross were injured yesterday through accidents with horses, and both were treated at the Receiving Hospital. M. J. Kelly was the more severely injured. While at work at the boarding camp of the men on San Pedro street, a mule kicked him on the right thigh. The injury is painful and his leg was so much swollen when he was taken to the hospital that it was impossible to tell whether the bone was fractured. Kelly was bandaged and put to bed. Osborne Meechim has several scratches and minor bruises on his face, as the result of having been thrown from a wagon when the horse he was driving ran away. Meechim was intoxicated.

REDONDO.

SEASIDE NOTES.

REDONDO, Sept. 8.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] The attempt to float the power boat Morning Star, which was grounded on the beach last Sunday, proved unsuccessful. After the removal of her engine she was pulled out from the beach, but she sank within only a short distance from shore. She is being hauled up on the sands again, and will probably be repaired here, instead of San Pedro, as originally intended.

Flocks of wild ducks have been seen flying over this vicinity within the past few days.

The steamer Corona, which arrived from San Francisco Saturday evening, brought 600 sacks of grain and 102 tons of freight.

The recent fish catches from the wharves have been mostly of yellowfin and mackerel.

James Roach reports that M. Richelieu of Los Angeles caught a fifty-pound yellowtail a short distance off shore this morning, and that the fish weighed thirty-five pounds dressed.

HARVEST HANDS' TRAGEDY.

Their Flat-car Striges a Road Engine and Seven Men Lose Their Lives and Four Are Injured.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

JAMESTOWN (N. D.) Sept. 8.—Five men were killed and six others seriously injured, two of whom have since died in a collision, early today. A mixed train on the Northern Pacific came in from Oakes, carrying seventeen men on a flat-car. As the train passed the station, a road engine was struck, and the force of the collision caused the flat-car to collapse.

The names of the dead and injured could not be learned. They were harvest hands who had boarded the car at Lamoure.

A Tulare county man has killed twenty-three rattlesnakes this year, without the aid of demijohn or pocket flask.
